Would Provide Outdoor Recreational Facilities

$1 Billion Land Purchase Recommended By President

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy recommended today a vast new land purchase program ranging up to $1 billion to provide more outdoor recreation for millions of Americans. The proposal was part of a broad plan aimed at protecting and expanding the country's natural resources.

In a special conservation message to Congress, Kennedy called for the creation of a land conservation fund to acquire recreational areas across the country.

Administration sources estimated buying would total between $800 million and $1 billion over the next eight years. Costs would be paid by people who use existing federal parks and outdoor facilities, through admission and other fees; by the diversion of unclaimed motorboat fuel tax rebates from the highway trust fund and by receipts from the sale of surplus federal land.

Asks Treasury Advances

While those funds build up, Kennedy recommended Treasury advances not exceeding $500 million for the eight-year span. He said Congress could make the money available by annual appropriations to the conservation fund and the fees and other sources.

Kennedy outlined the plan, fashioned from a study by his Outdoor Recreation Resources Review Commission, in a lengthy message declaring the nation's conservation effort must cover the entire spectrum of its resources.

The President defined conservation as "the wise use of our natural environment" and said, "It is, in the final analysis, the highest form of national thrift."

To evaluate past progress and plan for the future, Kennedy announced he would convene a White House conference on conservation sometime this year.

He promised the United States would continue to cooperate with other countries in scientific and research undertakings and share the techniques it develops—tech-

Decision On Nuclear Tests Expected Friday

Indications Point To Resumption Order By President

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy will tell the nation—and the world—Friday night whether the United States will resume nuclear tests in the atmosphere, says an informed source. Indications are he will order the tests to begin.

Kennedy's announcement, the source said Wednesday night, will be made on a national television broadcast.

Kennedy said earlier that by the end of February he would know how much ground the Soviet Union gained by its fall series of atmospheric tests and he would then be in a position to make a decision.

But an air of mystery had surrounded the timing of the announcement.

Wednesday the White House declined to say if the President had made up his mind. But there was a hint something was in the wind when his press secretary, Pierre Salinger, left for an unannounced trip to New York.

Reason Not Revealed

The White House did not reveal the reason for Salinger's trip. Presumably he went to New York to make arrangements for the television broadcast.

The President, sources indicated, is determined to remove any uncertainty about U.S. testing plans before the 18-nation Geneva disarmament conference opens March 14.

This is the conference Soviet Premier Khrushchev insisted should be launched with a summit meeting—a proposal that was turned down by the United States, Britain and most of the other nations that are to attend. The West urged that a meeting of foreign ministers should start off the disarmament conference.

Khrushchev, U.S. officials said Wednesday night, will do everything possible to make the United States pay a heavy propaganda price for any atmospheric tests.

Nikita Sends Note

In his latest note to Washington, the Soviet premier urged Kennedy not to resume the atmospheric tests, saying a new round would raise doubts about Kennedy's sincerity in disarmament negotiations.

He also renewed his threat that if the Western powers conduct tests, the Soviet Union would resume its testing.

Kennedy said his decision on testing would be made only on the grounds of military necessity.

If the decision was to test, he said, it would be to protect the security of the nation and the Allies—security that some U.S. officials and congressmen fear was threatened by the Soviet Union string of nuclear bursts last fall.

Then the Soviet Union broke an informal test moratorium by setting off about 50 explosions, all but one in the atmosphere, and climaxed by a mammoth explosion of 55-60 megatons.

As Fire Swept Barn Near Salem

Hoffmaster Barn Fire Was So Hot Firemen Were Kept Safe Distance Away

Fire late this morning destroyed a barn on the Frank Hoffmaster farm on the Ellsworth Rd., just north of Salem in Mahoning County. Two calves perished in the blaze.

All other animals, including the Hoffmaster's dairy herd of approximately 40 cattle, were saved.

Cause of the fire was not immediately determined.

Salem firemen answered the call at 11 a.m. Volunteer departments from Ellsworth and Damascus were also summoned to the scene later.

A large amount of hay and grain stored in the barn was destroyed.

Firemen were able to save several other surrounding small buildings although a tractor shed and milk house were damaged.

The loss is partially covered by insurance.

None Survive As Jet Plunges Into Marshland

Disaster Occurs Minutes After Idlewild Takeoff

NEW YORK (AP)—An American Airlines jet liner crashed and burned shortly after takeoff today, apparently killing all 95 persons aboard.

Coast Guardsmen at the scene just off the south shore of Long Island said they found no sign of survivors.

The tragedy came just as the city was about to give a joyful welcome to Marine Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr., the astronaut who orbited the earth.

The plane, with 87 passengers and 8 crew members aboard, had taken off from Idlewild Airport for Los Angeles at 10:07 a.m. Glenn was due here at nearby LaGuardia Airport at 11:15 a.m.

The aircraft, a modernized Boeing 707 known as an Astrojet, crashed in a swampy area known as Broad Channel in Jamaica Bay off Far Rockaway in Queens. The area is just off the southern shore of Long Island.

The plane was half in the water and half on the marsh.

Huge clouds of smoke rose from the wreckage.

Witnesses said the plane climbed to about 700 feet from Idlewild, then turned left and plunged at a steep angle.

Some witnesses said they saw flames coming from the plane before the crash. Others did not, but the plane was in flames immediately after the impact.

The plane was known as "Flight No. 1."

By 11 a.m., the report from Coast Guardsmen at the scene was: "There is now only floating, smoking debris in the water."

Police at Idlewild said at the same time:

"Apparently there were no survivors."

The crash scene was about three miles from the Idlewild control tower.

The crew of a Mohawk Airlines plane that had taken off immediately after the Astrojet witnessed

SAO Continues Terrorism

Final Peace Talks For Algeria Slated

ALGIERS (AP) — The final round of Algerian peace talks is expected to open this weekend, but a bloody step-up of European terrorism promised continuing violence in the North African territory long after France and the Algerian rebels proclaim a ceasefire.

Terrorist attacks, blamed on the Secret Army Organization opposed to Algerian independence, killed 65 persons and wounded 106 Wednesday. It was Algeria's worst day of violence this year.

Terrorism mounted in the territory as the Algerian rebel parliament reportedly gave its provisional government a free hand to sign peace terms with France after further talks. Both French and rebel quarters indicated the talks would open Saturday or Sunday somewhere near the French-Swiss border.

Speedy agreement was expected on a cease-fire and political agreements providing for a self-determination referendum. Algeria's Moslem majority is certain to vote overwhelmingly for independence.

But the impending truce in the 7½-year Algerian rebellion against the French still will leave unresolved the battle against the underground secret army, which threatens a major insurrection in its campaign to keep Algeria French.

Bobby Reports To JFK On World Tour

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert F. Kennedy has reported to his brother, the President, on his round the world flying trip.

The attorney general returned Wednesday, looking tanned and weary, and told newsmen he found a vast potential of good will for America but that it might be developed.

He declined to say what special points he covered in his talk with the President but added he was lunching today with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and would go into more detail then.

Kennedy said that particularly among students and intellectuals that are "a great many reservations about our position, what we do in the United States, our policies."

Many of these reservations, he said, are based on misunderstandings and factual inaccuracies—but many of them can be straightened out.

And many of the reservations, said Kennedy, are based on what the Communist party says about the United States, and the Communists have vocal, very determined people who, he said, have sold the idea that the United States has made no progress for 100 years.

One way to straighten out the misconceptions, said the attorney general, would be for others to undertake a trip such as he and his wife made, to bring more people to this country, to get other nations into an exchange to bolster the Voice of America.

"We haven't done the work we should be doing," said Kennedy.

JFK Satisfied With Tax Bill

New Plan Would Cut Revenue 1.6 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has told Democratic leaders he is satisfied with a new tax revision bill which falls considerably short of meeting some of his recommendations and threatens a deficit.

But Sen. Harry S. Byrd, D-Va., said if the House passes the bill in its present form the Senate Finance Committee, which he heads will take a good look at the measure to see if it can't eliminate what he said may be a $1.6-billion revenue loss.

Kennedy's word to the Democratic leaders that he is willing to take less than he asked for in tax revision was interpreted in some quarters as a presidential move to quiet political controversy in advance of congressional action on his international trade program.

There were indications the President recognizes that a squabble with the House Ways and Means Committee — which wrote the new tax bill—might endanger that group's approval later of a workable trade program.

Also in the background was the administration hope that the committee might eventually take some action on legislation to link medical care for the elderly to the Social Security system. This legislation is now stalemated in the committee.

The administration has scheduled House action on its tax proposal by March 15. Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon urged Byrd's committee to curtail subsequent hearings to speed final congressional action. Byrd

2 Drivers Cited After Collisions

No one was injured but two motorists were arrested following separate traffic mishaps on area highways Wednesday.

Gary Paul Cowan, 18, of New Waterford, was cited by the Ohio Highway Patrol for driving left of center after his car sideswiped an auto operated by Corene Brady, 73, of RD 1, Petersburg, on Rt. 170, about 2 miles north of Unity, at 8:15 a.m. Wednesday. Moderate damage was done to both vehicles.

A car and a truck were involved in an accident at 3:40 p.m. on Rt. 164, just north of the Lisbon corporation line.

Raymond J. Miketa, 31, of Youngstown, attempted to make a left turn with his truck into a private drive just as a car operated by Howard J. Lehman, 66, of 227 Court St., Columbiana, was trying to pass. The two vehicles' sideswiped, causing moderate damage to both.

Miketa was arrested for failing to signal a turn.

March Lion Blows In

Cold Wave Helps Battle Ohio Floods

By The Associated Press

A cold wave drove into Ohio Thursday, helping cut the chance of big floods on the Ohio River and its chief tributaries.

The river was already high, however, and in riverbank communities the flight to higher ground was well under way.

On inland streams, the threat of big floods had eased Wednesday.

The Ohio was expected to crest at 59 feet, tonight at Ironton—but that city has a flood wall to protect it at levels up to 73 feet.

Outlying Lawrence County areas, however, were hit by high water over roads, and four rural districts are keeping schools closed until Monday. The Red Cross evacuated about 30 families in that area Wednesday, putting them up in schools and town houses.

The Weather Bureau at Columbus said the Scioto and its tributaries would crest several feet above flood stage at most points, including Chillicothe and Circleville, but the water was away

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission has split with President Kennedy over ownership of an American communications satellite corporation.

The FCC Wednesday came out in favor of limiting ownership of the corporation to communications companies.

Kennedy, in legislation submitted to Congress, would have the corporations sell its stock—up to $1-billion worth—not only to communications companies but also to other types of companies and the general public.

The FCC's position was set forth by Chairman Newton N. Minow at a hearing of the Senate Space Committee. He said the Budget Bureau had cleared the commission's statement even though the FCC was not in accord.

Southern Local Holds Up School Contracts

SALINEVILLE — Faced with a

$60,000 difference between what is wanted in the planned new Southern Local High School and what construction bids total, the Board of Education Wednesday night took an unofficial stand to press for what it feels are "vital basic needs."

The board plans to confer further with State Education Department officials concerning the construction program and the bids on which action is scheduled on or before March 8—end of a 30-day period from when the bids were opened Feb. 7.

A total of $760,000 has been allotted for the planned school along Route 39—$404,423 from a state grant and $356,000 from a bond issue.

Apparent low bids came to $703,000 but the board indicated last night that these bids did not include some items and needs which members felt are necessary.

Bricker & Bricker of Salem had the apparent low bid of $389,881.

Jack Baker, school executive head, said the basic program would total at least $721,000 while the total project with what was wanted would hit over $800,000—some $60,000 over funds available since around $20,000 of the $760,000 are allotted for equipment.

Baker warned against "cheapening" the high school project, and Robert Skinner, board president, and other members expressed opinions that it was essential.

Glenn Lauded By New Yorkers

Arrival Saddened By News of Air Disaster

NEW YORK (AP)—John Glenn flew into New York today for the biggest blowout of all—the thunderous ticker-tape parade up Manhattan's canyon of heroes.

The blue-eyed freckled hero of America's first manned orbit landed at LaGuardia Airport at 11:08, a few minutes after his six fellow astronauts arrived.

The weather was perfect — bright and sunny—but the mood of the city was marred. About an hour before the astronauts landed, a huge American Airlines jet crashed at Idlewild with 95 aboard.

Fortunately for the millions waiting to cheer the astronauts, the bad news did not immediately spread to them.

As the astronaut's plane touched down at La Guardia Field, the welcome gears mesh into high. Millions were expected to line streets and cheer the 26-car motorcade from Queens Borough into Manhattan and onto Lower Broadway.

Even the weatherman was co-operating. The sun, missing from these parts for three days, beamed approval on the 40-year-old Marine for a little while anyway.

Of course, it's "blizzard" weather along that magic mile from Bowling Green to City Hall. Ticker tape by the tons should set a new record for the town's traditional hero salute.

Everyone on the sidewalks and in the skyscrapers lining Broadway gets a good look as Glenn rides by, seated in an open car moving at less than 10 miles per hour.

Memories of other great American heroes ride with Glenn on this momentous occasion. To name a few: Some in the present

New Stainless Furnace Built By Local Firm

The Herr Equipment Corp. of Warren disclosed today that plans were being laid for Spring delivery and installation of the world's largest and widest continuous processing line for the bright annealing of stainless steel.

The mammoth line, built for Republic Steel Corp. by Herr and the Electric Furnace Company of Salem, will become part of the Enduro stainless steel department at Republic's plant at Massillon.

Once in operation, this line is expected to substantially extend Republic's market for stainless steel. It will enable Republic to offer, in sizes never before available, a mirror-like surfaced material that virtually eliminates expensive buffing.

Electric Furnace, the prime contractor, is supplying the annealing furnace and related furnace equipment for this vertical line while Herr is supplying all terminal equipment including pay-off, coiling, accumulating, tension control, and tracking of the stainless steel strip.

Herr officials pointed to the great number of record-breaking figures connected with this processing line. They cited, as an example, the size of the strip

Mixed-Up Life In Land of TV Is Confusing

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The American television viewing public can be forgiven if they start thinking that houses are for hens and offices for secretaries.

When a network foreign news correspondent wants to read his report on current events, he straps himself into his trench coat and stations himself in front of the Arc de Triomphe or with a background view of the Thames (preferably in the rain) and begins to talk.

When intense coverage of Lt. Col. John H. Glenn's space trip was in progress, correspondent Roy Neal of NBC was stationed—for no apparent reason—at a large desk set in the middle of an open field. CBS' Walter Cronkite, dripping wires and microphones, was just standing—apparently without benefit of notes or assistants—in what looked like a bit of abandoned farmland.

When the White House has any news bulletins to impart, the importer is usually standing in front of 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue. Even the commercials are imbued with the spirit of the great outdoors. Most cigarettes are smoked at beach picnics and it is on or near beaches that pretty girls have their worst experiences with bad breath. Models shampoo their hair in front of old Greek temples and currently there is a girl taking a bath in an ordinary tub set in the midst of a ferny glade.

Paradoxically, most automobiles are exhibited on turntables in what look like grand ballrooms of hotels.

That's life in TV-land.

CBS won't do any talking, but it looks pretty definite that Marshall Dillon will be losing Chester next season. Dennis Weaver, who has played the comedy sidekick role for seven long seasons, was in New York last weekend taping a 45-minute sample of a show called "TV Tonight" which CBS is thinking of putting into a late-evening weekly spot.

Although science-fiction programs haven't done very well on television to date, show packages are considering series based on space explorations. One of the

News of Interest to Farmers

Barn Tour Planned

Columbiana-Mahoning dairymen will visit three counties on barn tour Thursday, March 8. The schedule calls for:

10:30 a.m., Campbell Brothers on Rt. 80 south of Alliance, Holstein, H.I.R. and D.H.I. production testing, classified converted from loose housing to comfort stalls during past two years, pail milking with pumping station.

11:30 a.m., Clarence E. Motts, east of Homeworth on County Road 400; Brown Swiss, D.H.I. production testing, conventional stanchions and partial loose housing and pail milker.

12:30 p.m., Lunch (Carry your own) Mile Branch Grange hall on Columbiana Road 403. Don McDaniels, master, and Mrs. Emmett Hole, home economic committee, acting for the grange membership, are providing the hall and coffee as a community project.

Discussion at hall by C. D. McGrew, Ohio Extension dairyman and K. V. Battles, Ohio Extension Agricultural engineer.

2:30 p.m., Glenn Shreve farm on Rt. 62 near Damascus; Herdmen: Elgie and Merle Boyle; Holstein H.I.R. production testing, comfort and conventional stalls, pipe line milker, bulk tank, silo unloader, barn cleaner.

Tour will emphasize production testing, role of herd classification, wiring and safety, buildings and equipment.

All farmers interested are invited to attend by the Mahoning County Extension Dairy Committee, Howard Withers of Petersburg, chairman.

"Super Brood Cow"

A registered Holstein cow bred and owned by Lamar A. Young of Mineral Ridge was designated today as a Gold Medal Dam by the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

The award represents the highest possible recognition for a "super brood cow" of the black and white dairy breed.

Wool Payments Data

The 1961 wool program incentive payments, to be made this summer, will cover only wool and unshorn lambs which are marketed before March 31, Clifford Shaw, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, reminded growers today.

That will be the closing date for the 1961 program, which extends from April 1, 1961, to March 31, 1962. Growers will have 30 days after the closing date in which to file their applications for the payments.

Payments to producers for the 1961 marketing year will follow the same methods used in previous years. Shorn wool payments will be equal to a percentage of each producer's cash returns from wool sales. The percentage — to be announced later — will be that required to raise the national average price received by all producers for shorn wool during the marketing year up to the incentive price of 62 cents per pound.

Lamb payments will be made to each producer who sells lambs that have never been shorn. The payments will be at a rate per hundredweight of live animals marketed to compensate for the wool on them on a basis comparable to the national average incentive payment per pound of shorn wool.

The chairman emphasized the importance of keeping adequate records on sales, which must support the information on payment applications. Thus, producers' sales records for shorn wool should show name and address of buyer, date of sale, name and address of producer, net weight of wool sold, and net proceeds to producer after normal marketing deductions, Shaw said.

Contraband Cargo In Space Capsule

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Friendship 7 space capsule apparently carried a contraband cargo of souvenir dollars as it orbited the earth and project officials are going to take steps so that it doesn't happen again.

One space agency official termed it a "foolish business" and congressmen expressed fear such articles might jam delicate electronic equipment.

Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr., testifying before the House Space Committee, said he knew of only one $1 bill. That was wrapped in a wire bundle aboard the capsule.

However, Lt. Col. John A. Powers, the astronauts' public information officer, told newsmen something like 200 bills were hidden aboard Glenn's space craft by the launch crew.

He showed newsmen Monday one of the bills on which he was collecting signatures of the astronauts for a workman who had been stationed on the high gantry that serviced Friendship 7 before it rocketed into history.

'Newlyweds Rates' Introduced At Niagara

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP) — Newlyweds can honeymoon at Niagara Falls at half-price during June.

Hotels and motels in the plan will charge honeymooners single occupancy rates and restaurants will give them two meals for the price of one, the Chamber of Commerce announced Wednesday.

Under the plan, couples present their marriage certificates to the chamber office when they arrive. The chamber then supplies them with a list of cooperating merchants and tours.

Politics Cannot Cure Illness

President Kennedy's health proposals delivered to Congress in block-busting proportions Tuesday will set off an explosion of discussion.

It will be months before the reverberations quit rumbling and the dust settles. In the meantime, the American people will be more confused than ever about the issue being made over medical care.

They know in a general way that the issue lies between the medical profession, which mistrusts political intervention in doctor-patient relationship, and a political element dissatisfied with the cost of medical care.

They know, too, that the issue is being forced on the U.S. public by political sources; that it does not arise naturally out of a state of universal dissatisfaction.

MOST AMERICANS are better satisfied with their medical care and their means of paying for what they get than they are with their political care and their means of paying for that.

But medical doctors, hospital administrators and others concerned with medical care are in no position to exploit dissatisfaction about the condition of government. Only politicians are in a position to do this.

This is one of the functions of politics — this exploitation of dissatisfaction.

But if we really do live and learn, we should have learned by this time that the function is carried on legitimately only when it promises to bring about improvement. And the only way it can promise to bring about improvement is to command the support of the best elements in the field it is promising to improve.

It has done a poor job with the medical profession. It has alienated far too many doctors by its heavy-handed tactics.

Politics cannot cure illness. No politician, no plan concocted by a politician, can prescribe for a sick child or ease the last days of an oldster.

UNTIL THERE can be reconciliation between only people who can practice the healing art and people putting them on the defensive with proposals to bring about sweeping changes in the way they go about their business, the American public will remain skeptical about the bedside manner of politicians.

The politicians have some talking points; talk is cheap. But their talking points, it always turns out, would be enormously expensive if they became acting points.

As far as Congress is concerned, the prospect for legislation in this session is dim. The Kennedy proposals are destined to be talking points only, while the medical profession continues to give Americans medical care that has no equal anywhere in the world.

No More Violence In Ireland

Algerian terrorists, it is reported, intend to avoid a head-on clash with the French army and concentrate on underground harassment over an indefinite period of years.

Their aim will be to keep Algeria in such a state of turmoil that domination by Moslems will be mutually unsatisfactory.

Leaders of the Secret Army have dedicated their lives to making Algerian nationalists rue the day they began to dream about an independent nation. Though the subject has been skirted and played down, Algeria is the battleground for a violent religious war.

We don't know how many more Moslems the Secret Army terrorists may kill, or how many Algerian Frenchmen the Moslems may kill to keep the feud going. There is no likelihood of a quick settlement.

Only now is it finally reported that the Irish Republican Army, an underground de-scendent of the revolutionary forces which won independence for the 26 countries of southern Ireland, will lay down the tools of violence and partake of the spirit of European unity that may finally bring about unity for Ireland.

In recent years, the IRA had been losing ground in public opinion. Terror and violence had worn themselves out in Ireland. Whether it will take a half a century for terror and violence to wear themselves out in Algeria is problematic. But there have been reports that in both Algeria and France proper there already is deep revulsion against a method that offers nothing but more violence.

Lucky Abe

With February spent, Republicans have completed this year's round of Lincoln Day speeches.

What mental burdens might have been lifted from Abe Lincoln's shoulders had he known during his tortured years in the White House how glibly his political descendants would erase some of the day-to-day problems he struggled with!

This thought comes to mind with the reading of a report on a speech by State Sen. John W. Brown, R-Medina, who gave a waverly audience his impression of how President Lincoln would have handled today's problems if he were governor of Ohio. One point:

"I am sure Mr. Lincoln would realize that you cannot spend more than you take in and when you reach such a point that the outgo is larger than the income, you only have two choices—either get additional funds or curtail expenses."

The 1962 edition of The World Almanac reports on Page 742 that during the years 1861-65, average yearly federal receipts were $160,907,000 while average yearly expenditures soared to $683,785,000.

Lucky Abe! Not only is his average annual deficit of $500 million NOT held against him; according to Sen. Brown, it never even happened.

A thief entered an Illinois home and robbed a youngster's piggy bank. That's supposed to be mom's privilege.

People who know the least aren't so bad off if they're smart enough to at least make the most of it.

By H. I. Phillips

Here America dramatized not only valor and candor and freedom but true sportsmanship riding hand in hand with high courage and dedicated service to country and to mankind.

In the current receptions the people are reviewing the whole story as Biblical in its sense of the miraculous. Today's cheers are a glorification of many skills supplemented by a revival of the solid, boastless unconquerable perseverance of the American pioneers.

How pigmy-like the diplomats, dictators, politicians and orators of the earth seem by comparison with the Marine colonel!

STUDY OF MOST AGITATED Man: the commuter who waited an hour for a train, got to town at the office two hours late and heard that Col. Glenn was finishing three trips around the globe.

Comment overheard from teen-age "Western" Addict as her folks kept the flight on the TV screen, "But what does he do for excitement?"

Postmaster General Day had astronaut stamp in the Post Office windows almost the moment the Glenn journey ended. They got a postage stamp out of the cone before they got the colonel.

Delinquency was a problem in his day, a George Washington letter shows. Yes, but what a wonderful difference the woodshed, the shingle and home discipline made!

Except, of Course, In Berlin, Viet Nam, Laos and . . .

Inside Labor

It is absolutely true that Jimmy Hoffa travels fastest. But he does not travel alone. There is, for example, the evening of Sunday, Feb. 18, when he flew into St. Joseph, Mich., and was given a reception due visiting dignitaries in some circles.

Greeting him were 10 Cadillac limousines filled with Teamsters. Behind screaming sirens the cavalcade blew into the twin-city area of St. Joseph-Benton Harbor. Hoffa spoke to a "mass" rally of some 200 persons.

He urged his listeners to vote for the Teamster Brotherhood in the coming election at seven local Whirlpool plants. These factories already had a union — the International Association of Machinists. Hoffa's passion was unrequited. The Teamsters lost 3-1.

I report this not only because Hoffa lost. Nor because it is one of many of his raids which never made the beachhead.

I report this not only because Hoffa poured in money and Cadillac limousines or because virtually all the other labor leaders helped fight off his raiders. I report it because the teachers' union there said they wanted to make an independent fight on Hoffa's heels. So the gentle teachers wrote and printed their own leaflets urging the Whirlpool workers to vote against intruders.

IT IS THIS MOOD of the gentle people which should harass Hoffa. There are so many of them across the land. They are slow to anger. They are impossible to beat. These gentle folk have been angered by Hoffa's braggadocio. They have been alarmed by what the government has been uncovering inside the Teamsters. There is method in the federals' maneuvers.

Their strategy is to peel off echelon after echelon of the giant union. Whether it is design or not, the Justice Department, working with the Treasury Department and with the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Management Reports, inexorably is building up an image in the public's mind. It is clear and sharp. It proves there is no personal vendetta between Bob Kennedy, the attorney general, and Jim Hoffa, the Teamsters' leader. It is between the government and whoever breaks the law.

What is past is prelude. There now are over 60 Teamsters under federal and local indictments. These charges run from extortion to assault with intent to murder.

Look well at the indictment the other day of six Kansas City teamsters by a Federal Grand Jury. The original clues came from the reports filed by the Kansas unions with the "goldfish bowl" division of John Holcombe's Bureau of Labor Management Reports. After examination they were turned over to the Justice Department. Then the FBI was handed the proof. Then it went to a grand jury. Almost $100,000 was involved over a long period of time.

THE CUT-OFF date was Sept. 14, 1959. That was the day the Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act was passed. Since then the Justice Department alleges that $42,400 from the Teamsters treasuries was embezzled and converted to personal use.

How was this done? The union, Local 41, and the Joint Council 56

By Victor Riesel

would give practically all of their business to a restaurant. The union had the right to approve the cost of meals of officials.

Other union business went to specific car repair, auto sales, furniture, gas station and construction firms. After a while the indicted ones, it is alleged, went to the companies and said if you want to keep our business you must pad your bills to the union. The unions then paid the hiked up tabs.

When these accumulated, the companies would pay some of the officials the difference between the actual price and the increased bills — in cash.

It is, of course, known that one of those indicted on charges of obtaining such cash in this fashion, Roy Lee Williams, was only recently appointed general organizer in the area. But it is not known generally that he is featured in the February edition of the Teamsters magazine.

NOR IS IT KNOWN generally that he is one of the Teamsters' most important officials.

He has more titles than a Gilbert and Sullivan admiral: Williams is not only president of Teamster Local 41 in Kansas City, Mo., president of Teamster Joint Council 56, but also vice president of the Missouri-Kansas Conference of Teamsters; executive board member of the Central Conference of Teamsters; chairman of the Missouri-Kansas Highway Drivers Council and chairman of the Central States Drivers Council.

And he served as a pivotal member of the credentials committee of the past two Teamsters conventions which elected and re-elected Jim Hoffa.

Small wonder the gentle people everywhere are stirred. They just don't want to be pushed around any longer.

The Hero's Role

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Glenn's Talk Bares Devotion to National Service

Everybody in Washington liked John Glenn. He captivated Congress. It wasn't just because he had flown around the world three times. It was because he seemed to be a sensible, modest, earnest-minded and Long after humble hero. the plaudits of the cheering crowds have given way to the silences of life, two paragraphs from the speech the astronaut made to a joint session of Congress will be remembered as the epitome of true Americanism, true patriotism and true faith in these days when it has become a fad to sneer at "flag waving."

Argument is often heard that nationalism is a sin. Even the mention of the deity in governmental parlance is frowned upon by the Supreme Court as possibly giving offense to the atheists. So it was refreshing to listen to these words from Col. Glenn over the nationwide television networks:

"I know I still get a real-hard-to-define feeling down inside when the Flag goes by — and I know all of you do, too. As we rode up Pennsylvania Avenue today from the White House and saw this tremendous outpouring of feeling on the part of so many thousands of people, I got that same feeling all over again. And let's hope that none of us ever loses it"

"As our knowledge of this universe in which we live increases, may God grant us the wisdom and guidance to use it wisely."

Much has been heard of late as to whether it is proper to indoctrinate troops with patriotic ideas and to develop in their minds a spirit of sacrifice by educating them to understand the cause for which they may be asked to die.

John Glenn must have gotten his inspiration to service in public school days, as he pledged allegiance to the Flag. He is a dedicated man. He was ready to give his life to help advance man's knowledge of the mysteries of space which could conceivably affect the safety and welfare of all people in centuries to come.

It was this simple devotion to national service, shared by his fellow Americans, that made John Glenn's talk to a joint session of Congress a significant event in history.

MANY HEROES have gone before. Some have stumbled. They have become wrapped up in themselves. They have misunderstood the plaudits of the nation and have fallen victim to a misguided egotism.

Back in the Spanish-American War in 1898, Capt. Richmond Pearson Hobson, U.S.N. — together with seven volunteers — took a daring chance and sank a collier at the entrance to the harbor at Santiago, Cuba, in an effort to bottle up the Spanish fleet stationed there.

Purely Personal

By TRUMAN TWILL

The charm and poise of the Glenns — and before them the Shepards and Grissoms — makes me wonder how many otherwise obscure people would be more attractive in the spotlight than most of the people who customarily are seen in the spotlight.

I never have felt that the most melancholy days of the year came in the fall. I think they come now, in the late winter, when the bottom drops out of the earth and the water begins to leak in over the top of your shoes.

Rumors that something may have happened to Fidel Castro in Cuba sets off a timely train of thought about dictators. They come and go, but the circumstances of dictatorship remain — and they cause the Castros, Hitlers, Stalins, Khrushchevs and Francos.

I no longer read lists of ingredients on prepared spreads because it distresses me to learn I am wolfing down things whose names are unfamiliar to me.

Like everybody else, I am fascinated by the idea of weightlessness, which Col. Glenn said he found pleasant during his orbital flight. The nearest I ever came to weightlessness was during a party celebrating the end of certain hardships that had arisen during World War II. I found it pleasant, too.

I never have run across a more interesting idea in communications than the new wrinkle now being worked out — practically instantaneous transmission, with the message being slowed down by means of a decoding machine at the receiving end and relayed at leisure.

It appears to me the part of the Algerian story we are not hearing about is the clash between the Moslems and the French terrorists on religious grounds. I suspect politics and militarism of being blamed for what otherwise might be

He won nationwide applause and was awarded the highest honors by Congress.

He forsook his naval career to enter politics. He ran successfully for Congress but after that was lost sight of because of his overzealousness in behalf of various political issues.

Commodore George Dewey, who ventured into Manila Bay and sank a Spanish fleet in 1898, came home to a hero's welcome. He was honored with all kinds of medals and the rank of Admiral of the Navy was created for him by Congress.

He was given, by national subscription, a home in Washington. As was the custom in those days with others who had distinguished themselves, the house was supposed to be sold so that the proceeds of the gift could go to the hero.

The admiral, who had just married a second time at the age of 62, immediately deeded the mansion to his bride. The Deweys never lived in it. The newspapers called it a grave mistake and public opinion was chilled.

War heroes like Ulysses S. Grant and Andrew Jackson have ascended to the presidency, and other military men who have distinguished themselves on the battlefield have gone into politics without losing their sense of balance or perspective.

Dwight Eisenhower's popularity today is largely due to his common sense and modesty. Gen. Douglas MacArthur, except for a brief venture into political speech-making, has kept in the background, and still is held in high esteem by the nation.

IN THE FIELD of aviation, none had won such applause as was bestowed on Col. Charles A. Lindbergh when, in May 1927, he flew alone across the Atlantic to Paris.

He was acclaimed in Washington and New York and given the highest honors. But his life afterward became highly controversial.

He went abroad in the 1930s, looked over Hitler's military preparations — particularly the new German war planes — and suggested, in effect that it might be better for Britain to embrace the "Swastika" of the Nazis than to die under bombs.

He made a lot of speeches throughout America that seemed to favor appeasement and lost much of the prestige he had won from his countrymen. He argued that he was trying to keep the United States out of war. He later served gallantly in World War II but he never regained his prestige of earlier days.

What is Col. Glenn's future? Many Americans, while realizing that international publicity is important in the propaganda battle with the Russians, hope that the famed astronaut will soon be able to settle down to the quiet pursuits of the soldier of science as he gives many more useful years to aid the cause for which he risked his life on the flight around the world.

described as a straightout holy war.

I have settled one thing in my mind after a long time — that a person either believes in free inquiry or believes in censorship and other forms of thought control; there is no middle ground that I can discover.

March is my birthday month — me and the crocuses.

As one who professes to know nothing about basketball, I have an idea that should guarantee victory. In view of the fact that important games are won by a margin of a few points, coaches should hold out their best player until the last few minutes of the game, when his skill and freshness would cross up the defense and enable him to score the winning margin.

Lilac buds are now swelling up to bursting size, though this is no cause for alarm, because lilacs in this climate never do anything distinguished until the middle of May.

Matter of Fact

Seeing a group of teenagers doing the rock and roll makes it easy to believe that dancing was the first and only means of communication for the primitive man. Through the dance he tried to understand and control his supernatural world. He danced to bring the rain, to drive away his enemies, and to make the sun rise and set.

Once Over

People of America are still "in orbit" over epic feat of "Fireball Jack" Glenn. . . the "Slim" Lindbergh of the Vapor Trails, the Columbus of the Uncharted Luminous Distances. With parades and cheers the country hails him as a man who flew alone "just this side of paradise," but no explorer ever had so much company.

It was a tight capsule, but in it at his side were the ghosts of Magellan, Pinzon and the Vikings.

He had every guidance of science, but of greater importance was the "instrumentation" of the family altars, rosary beads, bended knee and symbols of many faiths and creeds.

Stars, sun, moon and wonders of modern instruments were his guideposts but the hearts, minds and prayers of men, women and children were his support in moments of gravest peril. Instruments could falter or fail but the supplication of man at his best could not. "God, see him through," was a signal that did not falter or fail.

This Marine from the little town of New Concord, Ohio, sailed through all the Yesterdays into the Tomorrows. It won't show on the charts but the journey refreshed, renewed and regenerated the free world.

In the many parades they cheered not only the Greatest Show on Earth but OFF EARTH. "Fireball Jack" was the first human being to make the epic trip before eyes of the world, win or fail. Nobody can take that from him.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Jealous In-Laws

Dear Ann Landers: My wife and I moved to this community a few months ago. We rented an apartment in a very fashionable section of town.

We couldn't get a choice apartment so we took one in the court which faces a triangle of other apartments. In other words, we face about 55 windows.

My wife is a lovely person but she grew up on a farm where they had no neighbors for miles around. She isn't accustomed to window shades and she can't seem to remember to pull them down. I've reminded her dozens of times but it doesn't help.

My wife weighs about 180 pounds and she's trying to reduce. She does her exercises every evening (with very little on) right by the windows, so she can benefit from the fresh air.

Any suggestions you may have will be appreciated.—W.L.C.

Dear W.L.C.: Don't worry about a wife who weighs 180 pounds and exercises near the window "with very little on." If she doesn't pull her shades down, the neighbors will pull THEIRS down.

Dear Ann: Last night my husband and I had dinner at his parents' home and I got the shock of my life.

After dinner my father-in-law (who is quite affectionate) put his arm around me and gave me a peck on the cheek.

Two seconds later my mother-in-law motioned me into the other room. I could see she was upset. Her words hit me like a ton of cement: "You've been flirting with my husband for as long as I can remember and I want you to know that I'm aware of it."

I could not reply. I just stood there. A few moments later I said I had a headache and we left. I have not told my husband about this because I'm afraid he'd read his mother off once and for all. She's high-strung and insecure and she feels inferior to her husband because he's younger than she is and far more attractive. What shall I do?—K. L.

Dear K.L.: Tell your husband about the incident at once. If his mother has these notions she probably will mention it to him sooner or later. He should know why you wish to cut down your visits with your in-laws.

The woman is obviously ill and from your remarks it is apparent that you have good insight into her problems. Explain the incident to your husband in a way that will trigger compassion and not bitterness.

Confidentially

TO GREEN CHEESE: So he doesn't know you're married? How mysterious can you get? I'll bet the other half of the story is equally mysterious and that HE has a wife!

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. H. T. HYMAN

Questions and Answers

Q—How sure are you doctors that all this fuss about cancer detection does more good than harm? My wife is no more nervous about herself than most women I know but she hardly has a peaceful day for all the worrying she does about cancer. If any one we know or read about gets cancer or is operated on for cancer or died of cancer, she frets for days and sometimes weeks. Then, just about when she's ready to snap out of it, along comes other bad news.

A—I'll agree that you can't get something for nothing, that everything you do in life is costly, one way or another. Maybe your wife is worrying more than she should. But look at the other side of the scales. For example, the most recent figures on five-year survival rates for breast cancer revealed an over-all per cent of 62 to 74. But it rose to 92 per cent in those women who consulted their doctors within one week after the tumor was noticed.

Won't you agree that an improved chance of from 62 to 92 per cent is worth a lot of fretting? Or to put it another way, what would you give to be able to turn back time if the doctor told you "if only you'd brought her to me sooner?"

Q—What can be done to stop black-and-blue spots from appearing? I seem to get a bruise mark from the slightest injury. Sometimes the bruise appears when there's been no injury of any kind that I can recall.

A—The medical name for what you've been observing is purpura, which is just a fancier way of saying black-and-blue spots. The tendency to develop purpura is characteristic of many system disturbances, some of great importance. You had better consult your doctor for a complete examination including a thorough survey of your blood.

In general, most purpura are the result of some type of hypersensitivity that affects the walls of tiny blood vessels (capillaries). When these capillary walls give way under strains they would normally sustain, blood escapes into the local tissues and you see the familiar discoloration. This discoloration is not a "skin disease" but a skin manifestation of some more basic condition which has caused weakening of the vessel wall.

Among these conditions are deficiencies of vitamin C, rarely observed in the well-fed American adult; the presence of rheumatic fever, also rare in the adult; and, most often, hypersensitivity to some foreign substance such as an industrial product or a drug. Since this hypersensitivity may also cause destruction of the blood platelets, it can be life-threatening.

Hence you must see your doctor for identification of the cause at a time when the condition can be relieved rapidly by ACTH and "cured" by elimination of the provocative agency.

Q—My little girl has St. Vitus dance. What is this disease? And what can be done to cure it?

A—St. Vitus dance or chorea is a manifestation of rheumatic fever. In it, the nervous system is involved in addition to, or in place of, joint involvement. Usually the attack is self-limited and is over within a few weeks without inflicting any permanent damage on the nervous system.

Like the ordinary attack of rheumatic fever, it may be associated with damage to the heart. This can be lessened and maybe prevented entirely by eliminating streptococci from the throat with sustained doses of whatever antibiotic your doctor prefers in this condition.

Fork Removed From Stomach of Girl

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Surgeons removed a dinner fork Wednesday night from the stomach of a pretty blonde.

They said the patient, Athaleene LaRae Peterson, 21, was in satisfactory condition.

Miss Peterson, an accountant, said she was talking about her tonsils with a friend at a coffee shop Tuesday night.

"I was holding my tongue down with the fork handle," she explained. "I got to laughing and it just went down."

A hospital attendant said the fork was the largest item he ever had heard about anyone swallowing.

The Social Notebook

FORTY-SEVEN MEMBERS and guests of the Harris Class of the First Christian Church enjoyed a covered dinner Monday evening in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

Following the dinner Richard Sterling presided at the business session. It was voted to give a gift of money toward the cost of the piano for the young people's class.

Mrs. Perry Huffman used the theme from Billy Graham's article, "Our Right to Require Belief," for her devotion, and read a poem, "God's Eternal Springtime," by F. W. Davis.

Piano solos, "Largo," and "Over the Hill to Grandmother's Home," were played by Cindy Heim.

Games and contests were enjoyed and prizes were won by Mrs. Mabel Duncan and Mr. Sterling.

Guests welcomed were Mrs. Frank Thomas, Linda Burns, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Heim, Cindy and Becky Heim.

Mrs. Russell Gunn was chairman in charge of arrangements assisted by Mrs. Hobart Butcher, Miss Anne Moore and Mrs. Russell Burns. Mr. and Mrs. William Pritchard were in charge of the program.

The group will meet again March 26 at the church.

Richard Wilson is teacher of the class.

THE CAMELLIA Club met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. James Coy of Georgetown Road, and welcomed Mrs. Ed Zilavsky as a guest.

Mrs. Donald Heim, Mrs. Ted Eiders and Mrs. Edward Edling were awarded prizes at "500." The group will meet March 26 in the home of Mrs. Donald England of 584 Woodland Ave.

Sweetheart Dance Enjoyed By Job's Daughters Group

Forty couples attended the annual Sweetheart Dance, sponsored by Job's Daughters in the Masonic Temple Saturday evening.

Music was furnished by Joe Skirvan's Combo and the theme, "Buttons and Bows," was used in ballroom decorations by Linda Nedelka and her committee.

Refreshments were served from a table laid with a red cloth and centered with a red and white floral arrangement and graced with lighted red candles in milk-glass holders. Appointments were in red and white. Mrs. Thomas Nedelka was chairman in charge of refreshments and was assisted by Mrs. Fred Rice and Mrs. Ellen Garret.

Chaperones for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Gail Herron, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilson, Donald Beeler and Mrs. Paul White who also served as ticket chairman.

Initiation for the order was held recently with Ann Sutter, honored Queen, presiding.

The next meeting will be Wednesday at the temple. The meeting will begin at 8:30 p.m. instead of 7 due to observance of Ash Wednesday.

MacDowell Music Features Music Study Club Meeting

The music of Edward MacDowell, a famed American composer, comprised the program which honored the 100th anniversary of his birth when the Salem Music Study Club met Wednesday at the Smucker House.

The composer's life was reviewed by Mrs. Vesta King. The musical portion included: Mrs. Marie Fawcett, marimba solos, "Midsummer Lullaby," "To A Wild Rose," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Jay Hunston; Mrs. Michael Miller, piano solos, "An Old Love Story," and "To A Water Lily"; Miss Elaine Underwood, piano solo, "Arabesque."

Mrs. Joseph Celin, vocal solos, "The Robin Sings In the Apple Tree," "Confidence," "The Swan Bent Low to the Lily," accompanied by Mrs. Hunston; Mrs. Frank Stoodt and Dr. Anne Soliot, piano duets, "At An Old Trysting Place" and "From An Indian Lodge."

Following the program, third grade students from Reilly School presented a George Washington Day program in song and dance. Miss Lynn Botich announced the dancing of Mozart's Minuet by Don Giovanni which was executed by the students who were attired in costumes of that period.

The children sang "The Way Worn Traveler" by Arnold, "Beneath the Weeping Willow Shade" by Hoskinson, and "Minuet in G" by Beethoven. Mrs. Walter Hofmeister directed the presentation, assisted by Mrs. Dorothy Hartough, class teacher.

During the business session, it was decided the Club will present a program to patients at Woodside Hospital, Youngstown, in the near future.

Hostesses for the dessert luncheon were Mrs. Curtis Vaughan and Mrs. Donald Dusenberry.

The March 14 session will be at Smucker House.

Little Man's Victory

By HAL BOYLE

(The real April fool in the following tale is the author. Hal Boyle, who recently turned 51, has lost another month. He thought today was April first instead of March 1. His excuse: "You can't trust calendars today like you could in the good old days.")

The A.P.

NEW YORK (AP)—Amos Toggle, president of the Giant Acme Tiddlywinks Corporation, sat in lonely splendor in his office as he puffed on a big dollar cigar.

His secretary entered.

"Hector Squiggle to see you, sir," she murmured.

"Who's Hector Squiggle?" demanded Mr. Toggle.

"He's in our research and development department," replied the secretary. "Been with us 19½ years."

"That isn't my fault," grumbled Mr. Toggle. "If he's got a complaint tell him to take it up with somebody in personnel."

"He doesn't want to complain, sir. He says he just wants to thank you."

"Thank me?" Mr. Toggle looked surprised. He hadn't been thanked personally by an employee since 1941, and now couldn't remember what the occasion had been. But the idea of it happening again intrigued him.

"Show him in," he ordered.

A moment later in stepped a slender, nervous man with thinning hair.

"I just wanted to express my heartfelt appreciation for—" Hector Squiggle began obsequiously. "For what, Squiggle?" said Mr. Toggle gruffly.

"For the merit raise, sir," answered Squiggle, and continued in a grateful gush: "With my daughter ready for college, my mother's recent death, my wife's illness, all on top of an increase of rent. Well, it just couldn't have come at a more welcome time."

"What in thunderation are you gabbing about?" growled Mr. Toggle.

Squiggle handed over a letter. It read:

"You've been doing a fine job, Hector, and I just want to tell you personally I'm upping your salary $7.50 weekly."

The letter appeared to bear Mr. Toggle's own famed illegible executive signature, which resembled the tracks made by a hen trying to escape a weasel in wet snow.

"I never signed that," said Mr. Toggle. Squiggle looked down at the calendar on his boss' desk—April 1.

"Someone must have traced your signature from an announcement on the bulletin board," he said. "We've both been made the victims of a cruel prank. Sorry to have troubled you, sir."

His shoulders sagged forlornly as he turned to go.

"Just a moment, Squiggle," Mr. Toggle said, drumming on his desk. He stabbed an angry finger down on the phone buzzer to his personnel office.

"Jake," he rasped. "I want you to put down Squiggle for a $7.50—no, make it $15—pay boost. No, I didn't say Squiggle. I said Squiggle. Don't you even know who's working for us? The man's been here 19½ years."

Mr. Toggle slammed down the receiver, came around his desk, slapped Hector on his back, and stuck a dollar cigar in his pocket.

"That'll teach the smart alecks in this office they can't play jokes on the old man," he chuckled. "I'll show 'em who's the real fool. Keep up the good work, Squiggle—I mean Squiggle—you're doing a great job."

Hector stopped off and bought a steak and a bottle of champagne after leaving the office at the end of the day. At home as he poured out the champagne he told the story of his adventure to his wife.

"I wonder who in the world could have written that note to Mr. Toggle?" she asked.

"Well, who got the raise?" said Squiggle, grinning.

"Why, Hector!" exclaimed his wife. "I never thought you had it in you!"

She lifted a foaming glass to toast the big victory of her little man.

Crime Rate Increases 2 Per Cent In 1961

WASHINGTON (AP)—A rising crime rate still plagued the nation's cities last year.

It went up about 2 per cent over 1960—increasing in all categories except robbery which dropped 1 per cent.

The figures are for cities of more than 25,000 population and were released Wednesday by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

He said no one should get the impression the crime rise was moderate when compared to 1960's 14 per cent rise. It is significant, he said, because it came on top of the 1960 peak.

Astronaut Glenn Sees Space Autos In Future

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Aeronautics and Space Administration says it will expand its seven-man astronaut team very slowly.

Only a few will be added in the foreseeable future despite the growing manned flight program.

a NASA spokesman said Wednesday.

"You can see how long it takes to use those we already have," he said. "It will be quite a while before they (the original seven) all get to fly."

It is estimated that about 93 per cent of all homes in New York City have television sets.

Greenford High Choir Plans Event

GREENFORD — The Greenford High School choir, under the direction of Robert H. Sprague, will present a concert March 16 at 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Proceeds from the concert will go toward paying for the new robes purchased last year. Total cost of the robes was $1,444.47 and $581.49 still remains to be paid.

Choir members will solicit the community for donations March 13. Those donating will receive tickets to the concert. In addition, anyone donating more than $3 will be listed as a choir sponsor.

Donations may be mailed to Mr. Sprague at Greenford School.

Deaths, Funerals

Mrs. William H. Baker

Mrs. Luella Baker, 88 of Winona, died of complications at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lloyd Walton of RD 2, Salem, at 10 p.m. Wednesday, following a four-month illness.

Born in West Township, Columbiana County, Jan. 2, 1874, she was the daughter of I. O. and Mary Grooms Weaver. Her husband, William H. Baker, died in 1945.

She lived in the Winona area most of her life and was a member of Mount Zion Lutheran Church and a 50-year member of Butler Grange.

Survivors are three daughters, Mrs. John Ewing and Mrs. Leona Andre, both of Winona, and Mrs. Walton of Salem; eight grandchildren; 20 great-grandchildren and three great-great-grandchildren. One daughter, Mrs. Mary Striffler, preceded her in death.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at Arbaugh-Pearce Funeral Home in charge of Rev. Frak Jolly, pastor of Winona Methodist Church. Burial will be in Woodsdale Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Friday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Charles F. Slack

LISBON — Charles F. Slack, 54, of Lisbon RD 4, died at 4 a.m. today in Salem City Hospital where he had been a patient for past five weeks. He has been in failing health since October.

Born July 13, 1907, in Pittsburgh, a son of Richard and Bertha Havens Slack and had lived in this vicinity for 16 years. He was an employee at the R. Thomas plant.

Surviving is his wife, Dorothea Wolff Slack; two daughters, Miss Dorothea C. Slack and Miss Marion E. Slack, both of the home; one son, Charles of Tonawanda, Nev.; two sisters, Mrs. Edna Glausser of Lisbon and Mrs. Elsie Schwartz of Havre-de-Grace, Md., and one granddaughter.

Services will be held Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at the Henry Funeral Home by the Rev. Paul T. Gerrard, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. Burial will be in the Lisbon Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Friday from 3 to 5 and 7 to 9 p.m.

DR. HANSON SUCCEDES

Dr. John B. Hanson, 77, formerly of Cleveland and a brother of the late Mrs. Clyde McKee of Salem, died of a stroke Wednesday at his home in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Dr. Hanson, who had visited here frequently, was a native of Warren and was a surgeon in the Cleveland Collinwood district for many years.

His wife, Olive, and two children survive. Funeral services will be held Friday at Fort Lauderdale.

Crash

the crash and radioed an alarm back to the airport.

William Martin, a member of the Broad Channel volunteer fire department, said: "There was an awful loud explosion that actually shook the fire house building a half mile from the scene. Then a few minutes later we could see heavy black smoke—a very thick column of it. It went about 150 feet into the air."

The Broad Channel and other fire companies in the area sent ambulances and fire apparatus. Coast Guard helicopters and a city fireboat converged on the scene.

Police Commissioner Michael J. Murphy sent a large detachment of police, including 55 who had been assigned to Manhattan for the Glenn parade.

Also assigned to the crash were 125 detectives who had been attending a session on narcotics at the Police Academy.

The Civil Aeronautics Board of office at Idlewild dispatched its agents.

Three alarms were sounded for the fire erupting from the plane. The fire was reported under control at 10:50 a.m.—but by that time only wreckage remained.

75 Attend Poultry Institute Wednesday

Seventy-five poultrymen attended the Columbiana-Mahoning Poultry Institute held Wednesday at the Masonic Temple in Salem. Speakers were John Frederick, manager of the Creighton Brothers poultry farm; Dr. L. A. Wilhelm, director poultry development and market research of the Quaker Oats Co., and G. S. Vickers Extension poultry specialist at Ohio State University.

The Russian city of Moscow was first mentioned in literature in the year 1147.

Mahoning Dairy Interests Oppose Federal Controls

Dairy interests in Mahoning County last night became one of the first groups in this part of the country to take positive action against government milk controls.

Approximately 40 persons, representing just about every farm group in Mahoning County, met at Greenford High School and voted almost unanimously to oppose milk controls.

Although there were no negative votes cast, two delegates did not vote.

The group discussed the proposed government quotas and control programs for almost three hours. They decided that rather than accept such a program, they would favor a self-help program for aid to the dairy industry to include a compulsory check-off to increase funds for advertising milk products and a gradual reduction of the government support level so that the responsibility would be shifted from the government to the dairy industry.

Howard Withers of Petersburg, chairman of the dairy committee, was in charge of the meeting.

Cold Wave

from heavily populated or industrial areas. At Picketon, the Scioto was close to cresting at 25½ feet, 9½ feet above flood stage but still not a major problem.

The bureau noted the rise was slowing considerably and expected to halt by tonight.

At Manchester the first 35 families moved out before the advancing water. Merchants in the village's business district began to load their wares into trucks to go to higher ground in the face of a prediction that would put four feet of water in most of the community's stores.

New Richmond residents began moving out Wednesday, too, after revised predictions indicated water in the center of that town.

At Cincinnati, Red Cross headquarters for five Ohio and Northern Kentucky counties, a spokesman said an estimated 1,500 families will have to evacuate their homes in greater Cincinnati.

The Red Cross opened its first shelter on the Cincinnati side Wednesday, and expected about 200 persons.

The Weather Bureau reported the change to freezing weather helped halt any more rain and stopped the runoff from thawing areas on tributaries. The weather was expected to bring cold, dry weather for most of Ohio until the danger of high water is past and most rivers start falling.

The late-winter cold spell of sub-zero weather held tight from Montana into Illinois. Temperatures dropped to 40 below zero in Bemidji, Minn., and in to 20-30 below zero range in other parts of Minnesota, the Dakotas, Wisconsin and Iowa.

The Weather Bureau reported that sub-zero and freezing weather covered more than 80 per cent of the country. The southern border and coastal regions were the only sections out of the cold air belt.

The arctic air which dipped into the flood-stricken sections of Kentucky and adjoining states appeared to have lessened the run-offs of rain-swollen rivers and streams. However, thousands of acres of farmland remained inundated in areas in eastern Kentucky and many persons still were unable to return to their flooded homes. Snow flurries flecked areas in middle and eastern Tennessee.

In the frigid northern Midwest, hit by below zero weather for nearly a week, new low marks for March 1 were set in many cities. The mercury plunged to -35 in International Falls, Minn., and to -32 in Minneapolis, the coldest March 1 on record.

In Iowa, it was -29 in Waterloo and -20 in Des Moines while South Dakota reported a reading of -29 in Aberdeen. In northern Illinois, Bradford reported -10 and it was 4 in suburban areas of Chicago.

In the Kentucky flood region, a mudslide careened off a 500-foot hill Wednesday night in Hazard, destroying a new six-unit apartment under construction. Damage was estimated at $200,000. More than 100 families were forced from their homes in Frankfort, the capital city, by the flooding Kentucky River. Gov. Bert Combs has asked President Kennedy to declare 16 eastern Kentucky counties major disaster areas so federal aid could be given.

Flood water also appeared receding in areas in West Virginia, Tennessee and Ohio.

EDUCATORS CONVENE

LISBON — Twenty-five attended the Columbiana County schools roundup Wednesday evening at Beaver Local public school.

Ralph Betts, superintendent of the East Liverpool schools, spoke on "What's New in Education."

Mrs. Freda Schubert, principal at No. 16 school and president of the group presided. The next meeting will be March 28 at which time election of officers will be held.

Contracts

sent to build a fundamentally sound and adequate high school. Both emphasized the project "certainly contains no frills."

Discussion was held on a previous indication by state officials that increases in the cost of the project would be borne by the state. T. V. Utterback of the State Department's Building Division was expected in the area today.

Baker and Skinner pointed out the program at present is dependent upon the completion of drilling a second well at the school site. Baker said last night the driller is down 245 feet and is obtaining an apparently satisfactory flow.

A second well was authorized when the first obtained a flow of only five gallons a minute, below the state requirements.

Skinner named committees to serve during the construction project. He named Jack Stewart head of the building and grounds committee, along with Miss Ruth McNichol and a teacher representative to be selected. Stewart was designated to represent the board when authority is needed and other members are not available.

Mrs. Betty Rhodes was named public relations chairman; Skinner, transportation chairman, and Charles Allison, finance chairman.

Study Teachers Salaries

In other action the board authorized a teacher salary survey by the Ohio Education Association in the near future. Baker said he was informed this was the first occasion such a survey was asked by the administration, teachers and board of any one system.

The board also authorized temporary roof repairs for the high school and other schools where needed, granted a $100-a-year salary increase for S. R. Davis, Salineville teacher who handles the district's athletic funds—he has been receiving $100 a year—and authorized re-investment of some $270,000 of the bond issue money and other funds to obtain interest until the school project requires the money.

Stewart proposed development of an organized physical education program for elementary students, referring to a need for additional play equipment at No. 16 School. The board has a matching fund policy with Parent-Teacher groups when funds are available.

In discussing the physical education and sports programs for the district, it was pointed out completion of the high school and utilization of the present Salineville High School for junior high purposes will facilitate the overall physical education program.

The board adopted a policy on janitor duties throughout the district, as drawn up by Allison, but delayed action on approving specific vacation times until further study of a county policy.

The board also granted leave for the school nurse at Franklin School, discussed discipline control of students on buses, approved use of Salineville High School for oral polio vaccine clinics March 21 and 24 and use of the school April 27 for a "band day" event.

Parking Meters Yield $2,764.74 During February

Salem took in $2,764.74 from its parking meters during February, according to the monthly report of Auditor Helen Coyne.

This was $588 less than was taken in during January. However, there were five weekly collections in January and only four last month. The average weekly receipts for February amounted to $691, compared to $670 in January.

Receipts were up $1,070 over the same month in 1961. Helping the 1962 figure is the fact that municipal lots on E. Pershing St. and S. Ellsworth Ave. have been opened since February, 1961.

Of the $2,764.74 collected from the meters last month, $2,295.79 came from approximately 265 on-street meters.

Receipts from the three municipal lots (January collections in parentheses) were as follows:

Pershing-Penn., 170 meters, $179.19 ($208.13).

E. State St., 28 meters, $190.46 ($226.51).

Ellsworth-Pershing, 40 meters, $99.32 ($153.30).

2 TRUCKERS FINED

A Beach City, O., trucker was fined a total of $85 and costs in mayor's court here today for three separate traffic offenses after he was arrested by the Ohio Highway Patrol at the city scales on W. State.

John F. Lantzer, 31, was fined $25 for overload, $50 for fictitious license plates and $10 for not having an Ohio use tax permit.

Fined $49 and costs today for truck overload was John Eschman, 41, of Massillon.

cord with the President's program.

While disagreeing with the administration's position on ownership of the corporation, the FCC agreed it should be a private enterprise.

Minow said the FCC members strongly favor the approach taken in a bill introduced by Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., the space committee chairman, limiting ownership of the proposed corporation to authorized common carriers.

He said while concern had been expressed that this might give rise to domination of the corporation by a single carrier and other abuses, the FCC believed safeguards already in the legislation and others it recommended would prevent this.

Minow said one effect of limiting ownership to communications companies would be to make possible lower charges for use of the satellite system.

to be handled: up to .187 inches thick and 56 inches wide. This, they explained, will be not only the widest and thickest strip to be handled in a stainless bright annealing line, but also the greatest cross-sectional area ever handled and, when combined with the line's speed, the most tons per hour to be processed.

In addition, this line has steel rolls with a diameter of over 5 feet, each roll clad with enough neoprene to make 40 standard tires. Accumulators towering 10 stories high have the capacity to store 540 feet of strip—enough for five minutes of operating time with the line running at maximum speed. An upcoiler in the entry section is used to wind heavy ends of coils and is an innovation in annealing lines.

Installation of this giant stainless steel finishing facility in Republic's Massillon steel plant is scheduled for April and May.

Polio Clinics Among Schools Planned

All schools in the Columbiana County Health District and the four cities, Salem, East Palestine, East Liverpool, and Wellsville, will be given the Sabin oral polio vaccine the morning of March 21, according to Dr. Leonard Pritchard of Columbiana and Dr. William Koloszi of Salem.

Arrangements were set up by the doctors at a meeting of Columbiana county school executives at the Wick Hotel in Lisbon Wednesday. There are still some plans to be completed but all schools in Columbiana County, even though they, like Knox, belong to out-of-county school districts, will be contacted and this oral vaccine distribution will be set up.

Public clinics in 11 locations will also be set up from 1 to 7 p.m. on March 21 and 24 for anyone from six weeks upwards to any age at a cost of 50 cents also.

Requests $50 Million

In the field of recreation, Kennedy asked Congress to establish a system of matching grants to help the states develop outdoor programs. He requested an additional $50 million to assist states and cities to acquire open spaces for the recreation of urban area residents. And for the great outdoors, he urged Congress to pass controversial legislation introduced last year to preserve wilderness areas.

Kennedy again plugged for the program he submitted last summer to plan the most effective use of water resources to meet needs which he estimated will double by 1980 and triple by the end of the century. He said new measures are required to manage public and timber lands and to complete more watershed projects.

The President said he has directed Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall to devise methods of dealing with serious erosion and river pollution caused by surface, or strip mining.

Tax Bill

agreed to limit hearings to three weeks.

Byrd said in an interview that he is disturbed by the potential revenue loss to the Treasury posed by the bill. It would allow industry a direct credit of 8 per cent against income tax for new machinery and other productive equipment.

This credit would cut business taxes about $1.8 billion. Tightened provisions on expense accounts—which are considerably less stringent than Kennedy recommended—and the closing of other tax loopholes admittedly would not offset this revenue loss.

While rough estimates given to House members put the net loss to the Treasury at $600 million, Byrd said he is convinced the total would be $1 billion more than that. He said the lower estimates are based on contentions that the tax credit provision would boost productivity and thus increase the over-all tax intake.

crowd may remember General of the Armies John J. Pershing (1919); more remember thrilling to Col. Charles Lindbergh (1927); and most can recollect Gens. Dwight D. Eisenhower (1945) and Douglas MacArthur (1951).

At Bowling Green, marching units and bands—Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Air Force—join the procession.

Fire boats and harbor craft off the Battery add to the general din.

One person in particular is especially remembered by Glenn during his historic globe-girdling. He is Sir Harry Howard, the lord mayor of Perth, Australia, who ordered the lights of the city turned on in the early part of Glenn's flight. Sir Howard is here just for this occasion.

Youngstown Man Killed Outside Bar

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Jewel Andrews, 29, of Youngstown, was shot and killed in his car early today, police reported.

A woman companion and two men were held for questioning in connection with the death. Police quoted the woman as saying she went inside the Tally Ho tavern on the East Side while Andrews remained parked outside. She said she returned to find Andrews and another man arguing in the front seat of the car, heard a shot and saw the other man jump out of the car and flee. A 59-year-old Struthers man later was picked up by police.

Police said Andrews was shot through the heart. A .38 caliber pistol, believed to have been used in the slaying, was found at the rear of the tavern.

Algeria

in Oran's Ville Nouvelle Moslem quarter Wednesday.

The blasts, from bombs hidden under cars, collapsed three houses and left bodies scattered in the streets. French troops quickly sealed off the quarter to prevent Moslem reprisals.

Five more powerful bombs exploded in a Moslem quarter of Oran before dawn today, bringing angry Moslem mobs into the streets shouting nationalist slogans. But the demonstrations ended within three hours, despite two more explosions, and there was no immediate report of casualties from the bombing.

Authorities in Algiers claimed important progress was being made in efforts to break up the European underground. A 10-man secret army commando unit was captured in eastern Algeria and a six-man unit surrendered in Algiers, they said.

The secret army appeared to be gaining more than it was losing. French army sources said an entire commando unit of Moslem auxiliaries commanded by three French officers and one noncommissioned officer had deserted, apparently to join the secret army.

More defections are expected as a result of the French army's announcement of plans to demobilize 140,000 Moslems who have fought with the French against the Algerian Nationalists. Many Moslem soldiers feel deserted by France and their feelings are being exploited by officers with strong leanings toward ex-General Raoul Salan's secret army.

An army spokesman said, however, the army is confident of the loyalty of the 20,000 troops already in Algiers and the 30,000 more ringing the city. Most of these troops are from France and have no sympathy for the European settlers, he said.

President Charles de Gaulle met with his cabinet shortly after the Algerian rebel parliament issued a carefully worded communique ordering its negotiators to continue the negotiations.

No major obstacles were believed to remain in the way of a peace agreement.

Council's Resolution Lauds Glenn

City Council, meeting in special session last night, adopted a resolution commending Col. John Glenn for his achievement in orbital flight Feb. 20.

A copy of the resolution, along with congratulatory petitions signed by local citizens, will be mailed to Col. Glenn at his Arlington Va., home.

Plans for Salem officials to present the petitions to Col. Glenn when he visits his home town of New Concord Saturday were dropped when Mayor Dean Cranmer was notified by the village marshal in that small Muskingum County that community persons who don't already have passes "probably won't be able to get within 11 miles of the place" Saturday because of security restrictions.

The marshal explained that thousands of petitions and resolutions like Salem is sending are piling up there from all over the world. "The town is pretty close to being under marshal law" the New Concord official said.

Preference for seats in Muskingum College auditorium where Col. Glenn will appear Saturday is being given to New Concord's 2,127 citizens, the marshal explained. Hundreds of representatives from radio, TV, the press and federal agents are adding to the jam in and around the village.

Congratulatory petitions for Salem area citizens to sign were placed in several downtown business establishments, according to City Solicitor Tom Coe.

These petitions can be signed at the J. C. Penney Co., McCullough's, First National Bank, Farmers National Bank, Schwartz's, Sears Roebuck, Bloomberg's, Murphy's, Kresge's, Home Savings and Loan and City Hall.

The petitions are being distributed by the Jaycees.

Copies of the resolution and the petitions will also be sent to President Kennedy and to the commandant of the Marine Corps, Maj. Gen. David M. Shoup.

United School Band Officers Are Named

United Local Band students recently elected council members for the officers of the band and they are Kathy Stamp, Judy Paxson, Judy Woods and Marilyn Steiner. These students were reported yesterday as queen and attendants for the Band Dance March 23, but it appears that the queen and her court have not been chosen.

The band members will elect the queen and her court and they will be announced at the dance.

23 At West Branch High Inducted In Honor Society

DAMASCUS — The annual induction ceremony for the West Branch Athena chapter of National Honor Society took place in the West Branch gymnasium when 23 new members were added to the present list of 13.

The new Senior members are Patty Nezbeth, Rebecca Powell, William Davidson, Joanne Carns, Louisa Hanna, Meredith Denny, and Esther Stoffer.

The new Junior members are Larry Wilson, Cheryl Kuzma, Nickie White, Marianne Planchock, Margaret Cullison, Martha Glass, Carol Kinser, Amee Alberts, John Bandy, Gayle Griffith, Joanne Todor, Jim Hoopes, Phoebe Phillips, Richard Wallace, Beth Phillips and Tom Thurber. The former members are Robert Nicholson, president, Marianne Walker, vice president; Dorothea Hancock, secretary; Carol Jackson, treasurer; Neal Sangree, historian; Marcine Filp, chaplain; Lynn Baker, Nelson Coleman, Esther Case, Norman Karlen, Patty Riley, Arlene Wallace and Martha Ware.

Tonight the Senior members will be attending a dinner at Mount Union College for the National Honor Society members in this area.

ROBERT NICHOLSON, president of the Athena Chapter, gave the welcoming speech at the assembly and Rev. Wesley J. Runk of the North Georgetown Lutheran Church presented the Bible reading and invocation.

"Give Me Your Tired, Your Poor" was the selection presented by the West Branch Chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Virginia Faris. Supt. Clinton Heacock, founder of the Athena Chapter, spoke on "What Should National Honor Society Mean to You?"

Principal Ramon Scott, conducted the tapping ceremony. The parents were ushered in after the son or daughter was tapped. Mrs. Lloyd Martin, sponsor of the group, introduced them as they were recognized. The inductees were escorted to the stage by Nelson Coleman and Lynn Baker when Arlene Wallace and Patty Riley pinned yellow roses on them.

COURT AFFIRMS VERDICT

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Court of Appeals has affirmed a $25,000 verdict to an Avon Lake housewife for damages she said she suffered in a 1955 operation at Bay View Hospital.

Mrs. Betty Lundberg had sued both the hospital and Dr. Richard N. Sheppard for $100,000, claiming she could no longer bear children after an unneeded hysterectomy. The jury found Dr. Sheppard blameless.

12 "Thank You" varieties: Apple, Apricot, Blackberry, Black Raspberry, Blueberry, Cherry, Lemon, Mince, Peach, Pineapple, Pumpkin, Raisin.

Attorney Admits Part In Woman's Plan To Get Child

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—When Patricia Byington took one of her children from her in-laws at Granville, Ohio, she was "entering her own home and taking her own child. . . (and) I helped her do it," says her attorney.

Not only did he help Mrs. Byington in this phase of her fight with her husband for custody of their three children, attorney Edward G. (Ted) Marshall of Las Vegas said Wednesday, but he masterminded the whole plan.

Marshall, 31, told newsmen he would surrender shortly to Las Vegas authorities on a John Doe warrant out of Ohio charging child stealing.

Mrs. Byington, 32, is engaged in the custody battle over daughters Robin, 9; Holly, 7, and Tracy, 5, with her ex-husband, Robert Byington Jr., 35, an architect for the Ohio Highway Department.

Marshall said he went to Granville (Licking County) last Jan. 24, mapped getaway routes and devised the plan to enter the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Byington Sr.

Marshall refused to identify a second man, also wanted on a John Doe warrant, who helped spirit away Robin by posing as a telephone repairman to gain admittance to the Byington home.

The lawyer denied grappling with either of the elder Byingtons— "Surprise was relied upon, not strength," he said.

Holly was left with the grandparents, Marshall added, when Byington Sr. ordered the invaders out. The 7-year-old is still with the grandparents, while Patricia still has Robin, along with Tracy, whom she has had all along. Byington Jr. was unable to get Tracy when he earlier took Holly and Robin from his wife's Las Vegas home.

Marshall said the residence in Granville belongs to his client.

Ohio authorities are attempting to extradite the mother on a child stealing charge. Marshall said he helped Mrs. Byington because of her "sense of desperation and hopelessness." She is free on bail pending her extradition hearing. Her ex-husband last was reported in Ohio after being released from a two-month stay in jail here on contempt charges arising from his taking Holly and Robin.

TRUCKERS SWITCH UNION

CINCINNATI (AP) — Another group of soft drink truck drivers in greater Cincinnati has voted to leave the Teamsters Union and hook up with the Brewery Workers Union. A total of 22 employees of Barq Bottling Co. bal-lotted Wednesday to join about 800 other former Cincinnati teamsters in the brewery workers.

Want a Bakery-Smooth Frosting?

WE'RE OFTEN asked how to make the soft smooth buttercream frosting with which bakery-bought birthday cakes are usually covered.

Here's one way. For this recipe, you make a syrup with sugar, water and cream of tartar, and add it to egg yolks before beating in the butter and flavoring.

Be a taste-tester while you add the flavoring so that you put in just the right amount—your own judgment is needed here because the amount will depend on the quality of the butter and your preference.

BUTTER-CREAM CHOCOLATE-MINT CAKE

1 package (1 pound, 3 ounces) chocolate-mint cake mix, $\frac{3}{4}$ cup sugar, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup water, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon cream of tartar, 5 egg yolks, 1 cup sweet butter, Vanilla, rum or brandy flavoring, Chocolate leaf cookies (if available)

Make up the chocolate mint cake according to package directions, baking it in a 13 by 9 by 2 inch pan. Have cake cold before frosting. Stir together the sugar, water and cream of tartar in a saucepan and bring to a boil.

Tossed Green Salad

4 cups torn salad greens (packed down), 1 cup diced cooked turkey, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup thin crosswise slices celery, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup thin strips cheddar cheese, 2 tablespoons Parmesan cheese, 1 tablespoon chopped chives or scallions, 3 tablespoons olive oil, 2 tablespoons red wine vinegar, Seasoning salt and freshly ground pepper (to taste).

Turn salad greens, turkey, celery, cheddar and Parmesan cheeses, and chives into a salad bowl. Cover and refrigerate.

At serving time, toss with olive oil first, then vinegar and seasoning salt and pepper. Serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

Boil rapidly until the syrup spins a light thread (236 degrees on a candy thermometer). Beat egg yolks until they begin to get thick; gradually beat in hot syrup; continue to beat until thick and cool.

Beat butter until fluffy; gradually beat into the syrup-yolk mixture. Beat in flavoring to taste. Spread over top and sides of chocolate-mint cake; garnish with chocolate leaves if used.

NOTE: Chocolate leaf cookies may be bought by the pound in some fancy pastry shops; they also come packaged and may be available in a food-delicacy market.

Fresh Vegetable Prices At Stores Higher Than Year Ago

Fresh vegetables are not the bargain this winter that they were expected to be because of the weather, reports Richard W. Skinner, marketing agent with the Cooperative Extension Service in Canfield.

The late December - early January cold waves in Florida and Texas reduced the supply of some vegetables considerably. More recently rainy weather in the West has lowered quality of some leafy vegetables.

Prices of most fresh vegetables are above a year earlier levels, including broccoli, cauliflower, cabbage, celery, cucumbers, peppers, endive, lettuce, onions and tomatoes. Cabbage which is normally low at this time is now high, reflecting freeze damage. The crop is one-third smaller than a year ago. Prices of dry onions have gone up sharply as a result of uncertainty over the early spring crop in Texas. Head lettuce quality is variable, with much of the supply showing weather damage. Prices are relatively high.

About the only fresh vegetable to decline in price recently has been green beans, now at the lowest point in several weeks. Carrots and sweet potatoes are also below the high levels of a year ago. Potatoes continue at very reasonable levels reflecting the large supply of fall crop potatoes in storage plus some new potatoes from Florida. On area fruit counter high quality bananas have been leading the parade of good buys.

To hasten ripening keep bananas in a tightly closed paper bag at room temperature. Never put bananas in the refrigerator as they lose their delicate flavor and darken without ripening.

More Moisture In Hams

The regulation governing added moisture in hams is back in the news. High moisture hams can again be marketed. This comes about as a result of the recent U. S. Court of Appeals action which ordered the U. S. District Court to enter an injunction restraining the enforcement of present regulations. The present regulations which were in force since November did not permit the addition of up to 10 per cent added moisture. So for the present, you may find federally inspected cook-before-eating hams with moisture added at your local market. The label will not tell you whether moisture has or has not been added.

The Urban Defeat

By ROWLAND EVANS JR.

If they had placed Uncle Tom's cabin under the dome of the Capitol, and held a torch-light parade to dedicate it to the Department of Urban Affairs, maybe Congress would have felt obliged to respond.

Far more likely, the results would have been the same — a defeat of massive proportions for the ill-fated urban affairs proposal.

Putting a gentle face on it, the men of Congress resented the raw politics and its heavy-handed application in the administration's high-pressure campaign for the new department.

President Kennedy, at the urging of one or two of his eager lieutenants in the Senate, decided to go all out for the new department after its rejection by the House Rules Committee.

As one of them gleefully remarked just after the decision was made: "We'll hold their feet (the Republicans) to the fire and they'll never dare to vote against Bob Weaver."

Dr. Weaver, a Negro, had already been picked to head the proposed Cabinet-level department. Republicans, so the political argument went would not "dare" to vote against establishing the new department with the first Negro Cabinet member in history waiting in the wings.

REPUBLICAN feet were duly held to the fire. They turned out to be as heat-resistant as Col. Glenn's plastic heat shield.

But out of the wreckage of the administration's hot-foot plan came another discovery — that some of the most powerful Democratic friends of the White House also resented the power play which, it was hoped, would either build the new department or build a potent political issue for the 1962 campaign.

This resentment crystallized in the Senate, where a faithful administration servant, spare, ascetic Sen. Mike Mansfield, was obliged to do a humiliating about face on a parliamentary maneuver, and do it in full view of the public.

When Mansfield reversed himself and asked the Senate to bring the urban affairs proposal out of committee to the floor for a vote, he affronted the "dignity" of the Senate and was promptly slapped down by a 16-vote margin.

There are several lessons to be learned from this whole affair. It demonstrated, beyond reasonable question, that the Kennedy administration is prepared to use the legislative procedures of Congress up to the hilt to pry out political gains.

Probably, in the long run, a political advantage will be found for the Democratic party in the urban affairs controversy, despite the route of the administration in both houses.

BUT POLITICS on one side invites politics on the other, politics not so much of revenge but of retribution. The administration is pressing a lot of controversial issues just now, with more to come.

The Republicans are badly handicapped by their own ideological splits and their thin numbers.

Nevertheless, two can play at politics as well as one, and the welcome mat is now out, because this town hasn't seen anything in the last decade quite like the hard-sell politics on the department of urban affairs.

The second lesson is related to the first. The events of the last few days prove that even the most popular of Presidents, work-

White House in his humiliating attempt to get the bill to the floor ahead of schedule. Some other Democratic senators did almost as much when they voted with him, against all their instincts of proper senatorial procedure. But there is a limit to an administration's command when the command is thought to be beyond the call of duty and it is almost reached.

INCOME TAX INCREASES

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Canton Mayor James H. Lawhun says he will ask council to increase the city's six-mill income tax by another four mills for the rest of 1962 to "meet a serious financial crisis in the general fund."

In the Service

Three Salem men were among 9 area applicants enlisted in the Army during February, according to M. Sgt. Rocco Minnitte, local recruiter.

The Salem men were Paul T. Corso, son of Dr. and Mrs. Paul Corso, 1280 N. Lincoln Ave., Ronald E. Ganslein, son of Mrs. Edith Hoobler, 651 S. Union, and Seymour Wyatt Jr., son of Mrs. Ruby Wyatt and the late Seymour Wyatt Sr., 616 Ohio Blvd.

Corso will attend a 14-week course in automotive repair at Aberdeen Proving Grds., Md., and Wyatt will attend a nine-week course in cryptography at Ft. Gordon, Ga. Ganslein chose to be trained in medical care and treatment. All are Salem High School graduates.

Others enlisting were: Robert L. Cope of Lisbon, Gary Frederick of Leetonia, Hayes E. Covert of North Georgetown, Richard Amos of Alliance and Charles Keys of Youngstown.

All men were sent to Ft. Jackson, S.C., for further processing and all enlisted for a three-year period.

Jack D. Herman, engineman third class, USN, son of Russell M. Herman of 1883 E. State St., is serving aboard the attack cargo ship USS Ogilthorpe, a unit of the Atlantic Fleet Amphibious Force, headquartered at Norfolk, Va.

Pvt. James D. Crider, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Crider of RD 2, Columbiana, completed the eight-week automotive school at The Armor Training School, Fort Knox, Ky., Feb. 15.

Crider received instruction in the operation and maintenance of both gasoline and diesel engines. He entered the army last July.

The 18-year-old soldier attended Fairfield-Waterford High School.

Mint Must Mint More Money For Machine Age

By WARD CANNEL
PHILADELPHIA — (NEA) — Chalk up another victory for The Machine vs. Man. You simply cannot go around lighting life's pathways with vending machines without illuminating some pretty dusty nooks in the national soul.

A brief five years of unbelievable growth in coin-operated salesmanship, it turns out, has forced the U.S. Mint to double its production of minor coin.

Between 1958 and last year the Philadelphia and Denver mints raised nickel and dime production from 353 million to nearly 607 million. Penny-making leaped from 1 billion to well over 2.5 billion. And those totals are expected to be higher this year.

WELL, YOU DON'T put this much coin of the realm into the American pocket without expecting change. And it has come.

Coin collecting and investing in the U.S. today has climbed to frenzied heights. A dizzying tour of coinland discloses:

1. Otherwise normal men and women spending Saturday evenings (with permission, of course) in now-closed supermarkets, poking through the day's receipts in search of a vital penny.
2. Small children going through pockets of parents—not necessarily in search of a missing Indian head nickel for the collection.
3. Businessmen in gray flannel suits rushing from bank to bank filling empty bags with shiny new quarters in hope of cornering the market.

And like that. One coin collector's newspaper, for example, now is published once each week—60 pages chock-full of advice on who's got what and whether you should sell your dimes in this bull market.

Fred Reinfield, probably the biggest selling authority and writer in the field, says you can't understand any of this unless you start collecting coins for fun or profit:

"A gap in your collection can drive you off your rocker," Reinfield says. "Only a collector understands the glazed eyes of another collector on the hunt."

There is without doubt, considerable money in the hunt. Proof sets—the extra-finely-struck set of the year's coins which the government mints for collectors—bring lovely prices, depending on the year they were made. The 1936 proof set, for example, cost $1.81 and is worth well over $400 today.

A certain 1894 dime is worth $2,800. Depending on their condition, age, scarcity and the like.

Stuffed Eggplant Delicious

Looking for a main dish with nutrition, flavor and economy? Then try this lamb-stuffed eggplant.

Select an eggplant that is firm, free from blemishes and of a uniform dark color. It can be baked in the skin, boiled in water, stewed in oil or stock, or sliced and fried in butter. Notice to weight watchers: one pound eggplant carries only 111 calories.

CURRIED STUFFED EGGPLANT
(Yield: 4 servings)

1 large eggplant (about 1 1/2 pounds), 1 cup chopped onion, 1 cup chopped fresh mushrooms, 1 1/4 teaspoons curry powder, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 cup ground cooked lamb, 1/2 cup fine dry bread crumbs, 1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper, 1 teaspoon salt, Toasted sesame seed for garnish, Fresh parsley for garnish.

Wash eggplant. Wrap in foil and even the commonest pennies will someday be worth dollars.

But just how good an investment you can make in coins is something else. With the mad rush on the mint is now producing well over 3 billion proof sets for collectors (a four-fold increase in four years). These won't be worth much until they're scarce.

AND WITH everybody and his neighbor's pocket now in the search, many coins are in such demand that an investment in coins comes very high.

"Who cares," the vending age American collector says. "It's not the value. It's the fun of finding, identifying, sorting, selling, buying and trading."

"It's the fun of putting them into special envelopes in nifty cabinets under lock and key so no air, light, dirt or fingers can ruin them."

Sticky Buns Are Good In Any City

THANK PHILADELPHIA for giving us sticky buns. While Pennsylvania cooks argue over just how they should be made, the rest of us can enjoy various versions.

Should the buns be fat or should they be thin? Should they use raisins or currants? Should they be very rich and very sweet? Stay out of the alteration! A friend of ours makes the best medium fat, medium rich, and medium sweet sticky buns we've ever tasted; our advice to you is just to go along with her recipe. Follow directions and you'll have perfect yeast-raised texture, wonderful flavor.

STICKY BUNS

¾ cup milk, 1-3 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 6 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1-3 cup very warm water, 2 packages active dry yeast, 1 egg, 4 cups (about) sifted flour, Filling and Syrup. Scald milk; stir in sugar, salt and 4 tablespoons butter; cool to lukewarm. Measure very warm water into a large bowl; sprinkle in yeast; stir until dissolved. Stir in lukewarm milk mixture, egg and half the flour; beat until smooth. Stir in remaining flour to make a soft dough.

Turn out onto a lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic—about 8 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease all sides.

Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk—about 1 hour. Punch down; divide in half. Roll each half out on lightly floured board to make a 9 by 14-inch rectangle.

Spread with 1 tablespoon of the remaining (soft) butter; sprinkle with half of Filling. Roll up from 9-inch side. Seal edges firmly.

Cut into 1-inch pieces; place cut side down in one of the pans holding the cool Syrup mixture. Repeat with the remaining dough, butter and filling. Cover; let rise in warm place until doubled in bulk—about 45 minutes. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven about 35 minutes. At once invert pans on plates; allow pans to remain on rolls a minute. Remove pans; cool rolls. Makes 1½ dozen.

FILLING AND SYRUP

1½ cups dark brown sugar, (firmly packed), ½ cup currants (rinsed in hot water and drained) ½ cup chopped pecans, 1 tablespoon cinnamon, 1 cup dark corn syrup, 3 tablespoons butter or margarine.

Mix ½ cup brown sugar with currants, pecans and cinnamon; reserve for filling buns. Mix remaining 1 cup brown sugar with corn syrup and butter in small saucepan.

Bring to a boil, stirring, over moderate heat. Remove from heat and pour into two greased 9-inch round cake pans; cool. Sticky Buns will be placed in these pans.

Ham-Spaghetti Main Dish

Unexpected company, a sudden overpowering desire for spaghetti by the youngsters, or late at night after the movies on a cold night when everyone develops a full-meal appetite—well, to anticipate such emergencies, keep a pantry shelf stacked with packaged and canned convenience foods. Then your spur-of-the-moment meals can be quickly prepared without emotional strain.

Here is one sturdy example, made with canned ham and a packaged complete spaghetti dinner.

HAM-SPAGHETTI DINNER

1 package complete spaghetti

dinner with mushroom sauce, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¾ cup water, ½ teaspoon prepared mustard, Few drops Worcestershire sauce, 1½ cups canned or ready-to-eat ham, 1 (3-ounce) can broiled mushroom crowns.

Open package spaghetti dinner. Remove dry spaghetti and cook according to package directions, then drain well.

Meanwhile melt butter; add flour. Stir in water, can of spaghetti sauce from spaghetti dinner package, mustard, Worcestershire sauce; and cook, stirring, constantly until mixture thickens. Start oven at 375 degrees F. Divide cooked sauce in half. Add half sauce to drained cooked spaghetti. Mix remaining half with ham and mushrooms. Place spaghetti around edge of shallow baking dish. Put ham mixture in center. Sprinkle grated cheese from packaged dinner over top of spaghetti and ham. Bake 20 to 25 minutes.

Blueberry Pie

Blueberry pie, made with frozen berries, is a delectable reminder of summer!

Pastry for a two-crust 9-inch pie, 3 to 3½ cups frozen un-spoon grated lemon rind, ¾ cup sugar, 3 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine.

Line pie plate with half the pastry. Separate but do not thaw berries. Mix lemon rind, sugar, flour and salt; mix with berries. Turn into pastry-lined pie plate; dot with butter. Cover with top crust, having a high upstanding edge. Bake in very hot (450 degrees) oven 15 minutes; continue baking in moderate (350 degrees) oven about 40 minutes.

Meat Loaf Pleases Family

NEW FANGLED main dishes may come and go, but pleasing beef loaf recipes stay in family recipe files.

So many variations of this meat loaf! As a rule, the meat is extended and the texture softened by the addition of a "filler." For this we often use soft bread crumbs because they may be mixed so thoroughly with the meat that they are unobtrusive.

Liquid, too, goes into the meat mixture, and this may be water, milk, or as suggested here, tomato juice. An egg is added for the sake of body and texture. See cooks have their own pet seasonings for meat loaves. The combination here gives excellent but not strong flavor.

An extra fillip for this loaf is a covering of mashed potatoes—these prepared the easy way, from a package.

SNOWY MEAT LOAF

1 egg, ½ cup tomato juice, 1 tablespoon instant minced onion or 2 tablespoons finely grated onion (pulp and juice), 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon parsley flakes or 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 1 cup soft bread crumbs, 1 pound ground chuck beef, 1 envelope (4 servings) instant mashed-potato granules, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine.

Beat egg enough to combine yolk and white; mix in thoroughly the tomato juice, onion, and bread crumbs. Add meat; mix well. Turn into greased loaf pan (about 8 by 4 by 3 inches). Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 45 minutes; remove from oven; pour off juices; turn out meat loaf in a shallow pan and allow the rest of juices to drain off and the loaf to cool somewhat. Place loaf on a heat-resistant oven platter or in a shallow baking pan.

Meanwhile prepare potato according to package directions, then beat in the butter. Cover top and sides of cooled baked meat loaf with mashed potatoes; the drained cool loaf keeps potatoes from slipping off. Mark potatoes with fork tines. Bake in a very hot (450 degrees) oven 10 to 15 minutes or until lightly browned. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Spanish Hash In Skillet Dish

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

When you want to make a little meat go a long way, we think you'll thoroughly enjoy this recipe from Spanish cuisine. It's a vegetable hash that gets cozy with one pork chop.

This dish has another persuasive feature. Once the vegetables are prepared, it can be cooked quickly in a skillet. If you have an electric skillet, you'll find it's perfect for cooking and serving this hash. But a regular range-top deep skillet will also do well.

This Pisto Manchego, to give the dish its Spanish name, looks wonderful. Its combination of colors—the white of the onion, the scarlet of the pimientos, the green or yellow of the unpared squash, the brown of the meat—make a bright patchwork against the tomato sauce. Then for a final flourish, strips of "pancake egg" are scattered over the top to add their brightness as well as substance and flavor.

We enjoyed this dish for lunch. To accompany it, you need only crusty rolls and good butter. If you offer the Pisto Manchego at an evening meal, you'll want to add a hearty dessert. A pear cobbler made with fresh or canned pears, with baking powder biscuit dough or pie pastry, would be delicious. Or if your family has been hankering after old-fashioned apple dumplings baked in a sweet rich sauce, this may be time to serve them.

PISTO MANCHEGO

1 large pork chop, 4 tablespoons olive oil, 3 medium onion (cut in thin strips), 1 pound zucchini or summer-type yellow squash, 1 can (4 ounces) pimientos (drained and diced), 1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce, Salt and pepper, Pancake Egg.

Cut away fat and bone from meat; dice fine. In a large skillet cook pork lightly in 2 tablespoons of the olive oil; push to one side. Add remaining 2 tablespoons olive oil and onion; cook very slowly until softened but not browned. With a slotted spoon, remove pork and onion. Add squash to skillet; cook until tender-crisp, stirring occasionally.

Return pork and onion to skillet; add pimiento, tomato sauce, salt and pepper. Simmer 15 to 20 minutes. Top with Pancake Egg. Serve at once. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Pancake Egg: Beat 6 eggs just until yolks and whites are combined. Heat 1 tablespoon olive oil in a 10-inch skillet; add eggs.

Cook gently without stirring until firm; covering toward end of cooking to dry top. Eggs on bottom of skillet should not brown. Turn out and cut in squares or rectangles to use as topping for vegetable hash.

Cowboys had participated in rodeos long before 1887, but spectators first paid to watch them perform their skills in October of that year.

SOMETHING NEW At KROGERS

APPLE PIE 39c

KROGERS East State St., Salem, Ohio

Coconut Fig Bread

2 1/3 cups fine graham cracker crumbs, 2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup shredded coconut, 1/2 cup very finely cut table figs, 3 eggs, 1/2 cup milk, 1/2 cup butter or margarine, (melted and cooled)

Grease entire inner surface of loaf pan (about 8 1/2 by 4 1/2 by 2 1/2 inches); line bottom with greased waxed paper. Stir together the graham cracker crumbs, baking powder, salt and sugar; mix in coconut and figs. In medium sized mixing bowl beat eggs until thick and lemon colored; add milk and melted butter and beat to combine. Stir in graham cracker mixture. Turn into prepared pan.

Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Turn out on rack; turn right side up; cool.

Note: Either honey or regular graham crackers may be used.

You'll need 32 from a large box. If you have an electric blender you can use it for crushing the crackers into very fine crumbs.

Strawberry Cake

2 cups sifted cake flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 2 eggs, 1 cup sugar, 1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla, 1 cup heavy cream.

Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Beat eggs, sugar and vanilla until very thick and almost white in color. Beat in sifted dry ingredients, in 4 additions, alternately with cream.

Turn into well-greased baking pan (9 by 9 by 1 1/4 inches). Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 30 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Loosen edges and turn out on wire rack; cool.

Serve squares of cake with thawed frozen strawberries and whipped cream.

West Virginia, Wake Forest Win Conference Crowns

Both Seek Tourney Titles For NCAA Berths

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
West Virginia and Wake Forest, which won their respective conference races, now have to do it all over again in order to gain first berths in the NCAA Eastern regional basketball tournament—and it isn't going to be easy for either of them.

The Southern Conference tournament opens in Richmond, Va., and the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament at Raleigh, N.C. today with the eventual winners gaining the NCAA tourney spots.

West Virginia, 21-5 over-all and 12-1 in the Southern, probably will gain the favorite role at Richmond, but can expect trouble. Wake Forest, 12-2 in the ACC and 15-8 over-all, has its work cut out at Raleigh. Duke, 19-4 over-all, second in the ACC and ranked eighth in the nation, is in the field Wake Forest must beat.

Tenth-ranked Utah can assure itself of at least a share of the Skyline title if it beats Colorado State U. tonight. That, however, may prove difficult. Colorado State (10-2 in the league) owns a 74-59 triumph over Utah in a previous match. Utah is 10-1 in the league and 21-3 over-all going in. Utah State, also 10-2 in the league, will try to keep pace against Denver.

Ranked Teams Idle

None of the ranked teams were in action Wednesday night and only a sorry record set by Syracuse enlivened the light schedule. The Orangemen fell before Niagara 86-58 for their 27th consecutive loss over a two-season span, an NCAA major school record for successive defeats. It topped the previous record of 26 in a row by Georgia Tech.

In other major games, St. Joseph's (Pa.) mauled St. Peter's (N.J.) 99-72 and Temple had an easy time of it, 75-60 over Penn State in a Philadelphia double-header; Dayton took Miami of Ohio 63-52; and Oklahoma scored a 63-62 Big Eight victory over Kansas.

Kent State may have the worst collegiate won-loss record in the whole state of Ohio, but most of the Golden Flashes' foes undoubtedly would appraise them as not really that bad.

The Flashes lost in overtime when it was discovered the team inadvertently used an ineligible player. Toledo and Ohio University both stand 7-4 in the Mid-American, ahead of Western Michigan's 6-5, and Marshall's 5-6, following the Wednesday action.

Ohio University Rapped
Ohio U. lost a nonleague to Louisville 95-86.

Palmer Enters Golf Tourney

Injury Fails To Halt Defending Champ

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Despite ear infections that required a surgeon's lance, loss of equilibrium and a bad cold, defending champion Arnold Palmer promised to tee off in the $20,000 Baton Rouge Open Golf Tournament today.

Palmer said infection drained from his ears Tuesday night after a doctor had lanced the abscesses. He told a civic club luncheon Wednesday he felt better and intended to be on the firing line today.

But the doctor said he would advise Palmer to withdraw if conditions were wet and cold over the Baton Rouge Country Club today. The tournament got a bad break in the weather with a cold front bringing sub-freezing temperatures after weeks of spring warmth.

Should Palmer be unable to play, the big gallery expected would be deprived of seeing Palmer back in action after his brief vacation from the tour. He skipped the Tucson and New Orleans tournaments to attend to business matters in Miami.

Should Palmer be forced to the sidelines, the favorite's role would fall to any of several players, including Bo Wining, winner of the New Orleans Open last Sunday and titleholder here in 1955, or Doug Sanders, or Bob Rosburg or Phil Rodgers, 23, the Californian who trails only Gene Littler in money earned on the 1962 tour.

Utah's McGill Gets 60 Points In Game

NEW YORK (AP)—Billy McGill of Utah came through with the biggest scoring burst of his three-year varsity career last Saturday night, boosted his per-game average to 38.4 points, and all but wrapped up the major college basketball scoring title for 1961-62.

The 6-foot-9 center poured in 60 against Brigham Young, the highest output of the season.

Jack Foley (33.4) of Holy Cross and Nick Werkman (33.1) of Seton Hall are closely contesting the runner-up spot, while Len Chappell (30.9) of Wake Forest and Terry Dischinger (30.7) of Purdue are in a tight fuel for fourth.

Figures from the NCAA Service Bureau for games through Tuesday night also show Loyola of Chicago has regained team offensive leadership from Arizona State University, averaging 92.7 points a game to 91.3 for ASU.

BOOSTERS MEET TONIGHT

All officers and banquet committees are urged to be present to complete plans for the upcoming basketball banquet when the Salem Boosters Club meets tonight at 7:30 in the Memorial Building, according to Clair Leeper, president.

Salem High Basketball Coach John Cabas will be on hand to show moves of the recent cage game with Youngstown Wilson and discuss the upcoming tourney battle with Youngstown Chaney.

Jay, Cepeda Stay Unsigned

Colavito Continues Holdout For 'Reasonable' Increase

By DON WEISS

Associated Press Sports Writer
Rocky Colavito, the slugging Detroit outfielder, got $35,000, is offered a reported $42,500, wants "over $50,000."

Orlando Cepeda, the San Francisco Giants' National League home run champ, got $30,000, is offered $42,500, wants $60,000.

Joey Jay, 21-game winner of

Cepeda Seeks Double His '61 Salary

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (AP)—Orlando Cepeda, San Francisco Giants slugger, is demanding $60,000, or twice his 1961 salary.

This was disclosed at an unusual press conference Wednesday at which Giants President Horace Stoneham gave exact figures — a precedent-shattering move.

"I have no objection to telling just what a player's salary is," said Stoneham.

Manager Alvin Dark, with Stoneham's authorization, said Cepeda, 24, earned $30,000 last year, when he led the National League in home runs with 46. Previous estimates had placed his salary at $27,500.

It was also disclosed the Giant were offering him $42,500 for 1962. Dark added that Stoneham would like to divulge everyone's salary but won't because other major league owners would be reluctant to make such disclosures.

"It is not our intention to make Orlando look bad at all. Neither do we want the club placed in a bad light. Our only intention is to set the facts straight," explained Dark.

Despite the asking price of $60,000, the Giants' mentor says he won't start worrying about Cepeda until March 15.

Cepeda hit .311 last year, the seventh best mark in the loop and highest among the Giants. He drove in 142 runs, also a National League high.

Post Office Advances In Volleyball League

Post Office moved into third place in the Salem Adult Volleyball League's second round of play with a sweep of three-game series over Plungers Wednesday night on the Memorial Building court.

In other action last night, Salem Music Center won all three of its games over Flintstones by forfeit and Electric Furnace Engineering took two of three tilts from Electric Furnace Sales.

The Post Office team advanced its record to 12-3 with wins of 15-6, 15-10 and 15-7, while Engineering (9-6) won 15-1 and 15-10 before losing the finale to Sales (3-12) by a 16-14 count.

Electric Furnace Experimental is currently on top in the second round standings with a 13-2 mark, followed in second place by Franklin Market at 10-2.

the Cincinnati Reds, got $15,000, is offered $25,000, wants $30,000.

That's the status of the three major holdouts in major league baseball today.

Colavito, who became an official holdout Wednesday, remains at his home in Temple, Pa.

"I think what I am asking is very reasonable," he said. "So does my wife. The trouble is the Tiger management and I differ in opinion on what is a reasonable increase." Last year, Colavito rapped 45 home runs, drove in 140 runs and batted .290.

The Giants, stung by estimates that Cepeda earned $27,500 last season—when he batted .311, hit 46 home runs and drove in 142 runs, broke precedent Wednesday and revealed he made $30,000. Manager Al Dark said reports that Cepeda has been offered $42,500 for this year were just about right.

Jay, who never had won more than nine games in a season before, has five working oil wells in West Virginia and is threatening to concentrate on them at the expense of baseball unless his $15,000 salary is doubled. General Manager Bill Dewitt of the Reds made a counter-offer of $25,000 Wednesday night and Jay said he would make up his mind whether to accept it on Friday.

Elsewhere, outfielder Jim Lemon of the Minnesota Twins, who may have learned last year what an extended holdout can mean, continued to impress his manager and coaches with his slugging at Orlando, Fla. Lemon rapped 38 home runs and drove in 100 runs in 1960. Last season he held out for 17 days and never did get into stride after he reported, winding up with 14 home runs and 52 RBI.

Girl Scouts Mark 50 Years of Service

Fifty years of girl scouting are spanned by these pictures of scouts visiting Theodore Roosevelt during World War I, (top), and presentation of roses to President Kennedy at the White House (bottom picture).

More than 2,500,000 girls are members and at least 14 million girls have been scouts since the Girl Scouts of America was founded with a troop of 12 girls on March 12, 1912, in Savannah, Ga.

Affiliated with the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts, the organization has grown during its first half century to embrace more than five million members in 51 countries.

Mrs. Russell Shive Hostess To Leetonia WSCS Members

LEETONIA — The Women's Society of Christian Service met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Russell Shive, with Mrs. Ada Shriver and Mrs. Wayne Shive as associate hostesses.

Mrs. George Weikart, president, conducted the meeting. Mrs. Albert Oakes had charge of the devotion, using a world globe and the Bible to bring "The Word of God".

Mrs. Weikart presented the program on "Latin America", assisted by Miss Mary Ellen Cutshall.

Mrs. Merle Davis, Mrs. D. D. Calvin, Mrs. Gilbert Edgerton, Mrs. Harold Cleckner, Mrs. Elby Morris and Mrs. Robert Kornbau.

Mrs. Kornbau and Mrs. Weikart will represent the Methodist Church at the World Day of Prayer at 7:30 p.m. Friday, March 9 at St. Paul's Lutheran Church. SERVICEMEN'S CLASS of St. Paul's Lutheran Church will serve its annual Shrove Tuesday, March 6, pancake-sausage supper from 5:30 to 8 p.m. The public is invited.

Showdown Due On Northern Rhodesia

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and Sir Roy Welensky met today for a showdown on the Northern Rhodesian constitution and the future of the federation Welensky heads.

Colonial Secretary Reginald Maudling and Commonwealth Secretary Duncan Sandys sat in on the 55-minute conference between Macmillan and Welensky, prime minister of the federation which includes Northern and Southern Rhodesia and Nyasaland.

Macmillan and Welensky smiled and shook hands as they parted and Welensky told newsmen: "I will be going back home fairly soon, but I will probably make some statement before I leave the country."

Some observers believed Welensky would bow to Macmillan and accept the Northern Rhodesian constitution. Announced Wednesday in Parliament by Maudling, it will give the Negro majority there a good chance to win a governing majority in the territory's legislature.

Welensky fears that a Negro government would take Northern Rhodesia out of the federation, whose government is dominated by the white settlers in Southern Rhodesia. He has threatened to use force to keep the federation intact.

Indian Ocean Area Hit By Hurricane

LONDON (AP)—At least a score of dead and hundreds of injured were reported today on the Indian Ocean islands of Mauritius and Reunion after a hurricane with winds up to 156 miles an hour.

The British Colonial office said the howling winds and driving rains Wednesday took at least 11 lives on Mauritius, a British-ruled island 530 miles east of Madagascar. Another 125 were injured and 1,300 buildings destroyed.

The Red Cross said special refugee centers were being put up to handle more than 8,000 left homeless on the 720-square mile island of about half a million population.

Reports from Saint Denis, Reunion's capital, said the hurricane, called Jenny, killed nine, injured 250 more and left thousands homeless on that French-ruled island 110 miles southwest of Mauritius.

Grange News

Mt. Nebo Program
Twenty-three members attended the meeting of Mt. Nebo Grange Wednesday evening.

Business meeting included a report of district meeting held at Stillfork Grange Hall in Carroll County. Plans were completed for bi-monthly county council grange meeting to be held at Mt. Nebo March 13.

Literary program Wednesday was in charge of Mrs. Mary Frantz and roll call was answered by "A Feature I Would Like to Have on a Program." John Schneider showed community pictures and group singing was enjoyed.

Lisbon Meets Friday

The "traveling sign" program will be presented by Wayne Township Grange when Lisbon Grange host the visiting group on Friday at 8 p.m.

Officers of Lisbon Grange hope that all their members attend to see this specially prepared program. Master Zada Crosser will preside.

Goshen Will Meet

Goshen Grange will meet Friday at 8 p.m. in the grange hall and refreshments will be served.

Guilford Inspection Set

County Deputy Jack Pozenel will inspect Guilford Grange Saturday evening at 8:30 at the grange hall.

Refreshments will be served by the home economics committee.

Smith Opposes Controls

Smith Grange went on record Monday evening as opposing federal controls on dairy products and will send resolution to that effect to Pomona grange which meets this evening at Austintown grange.

Members voted to give $15 to the March of dimes, it was reported a new pump and tile for the basement will be bought. Articles for a rummage sale are to be brought to the hall.

The program opened by singing "Battle Hymn of the Republic" led by Bill Iddings. Mrs. Eldon Bandy and son Kenneth showed slides reenacting the Second Battle of Manassas.

Ray Hively was reported in Alliance hospital. Mildred Gednetz and Dorothy Dennis served lunch. County deputy Marcus Flickinger will conduct the annual inspection March 19.

NEW PLANT PLANNED

NEW YORK (AP)—West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co. will build a new plant at Newark, Del., and expand one at Ashland, Ohio, to increase substantially its folding carton production.

The Newark plant, to handle offset printing and carton finishing, is to be completed late this year. The Ashland plant will be expanded by adding a high-speed, six-color offset press.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE OF ELECTION ON TAX LEVY IN EXCESS OF THE TEN MILL LIMITATION
NOTICE is hereby given that in pursuance of a Resolution of the Council of the City of Salem, Columbiana County, Ohio, passed on the 8th day of February, 1962, there will be submitted to a vote of the people of said City of Salem at the regular places of voting thereon, on Tuesday, the 8th day of May, 1962, the question of levying a tax, in excess of the ten mill limitation, for the purpose of providing an adequate amount for recreational purposes.

Said tax being a renewal of an existing tax of five tenths (5/10) of one (1) mill to run for five (5) years at a rate not exceeding five tenths (5/10) of one (1) mill for each one dollar of valuation, which amounts to Five cents ($0.05) for each one hundred dollars of valuation, for five years beginning with the year 1963.

The Polls for said Election will be open at 6:30 o'clock A.M. and remain open until 6:30 o'clock P.M. at the Moderate School, Eastern Standard Time of said day. By order of the Board of Elections of Columbiana County, Ohio.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE OF ELECTION ON ISSUE OF BONDS
NOTICE is hereby given that in pursuance of a Resolution of the Board of Education of the United Local School District, Columbiana County, Ohio, passed on the 31st day of January, 1962, there will be submitted to a vote of the people of said United Local School District to be held in the United Local School District, Columbiana County, Ohio, at the regular places of voting thereon, on Tuesday, the 8th day of May, 1962, the question of issuing bonds of said United Local School District in the amount of TWO HUNDRED NINETY-EIGHT THOUSAND AND NO/100 Dollars ($298,000.00) for the purpose of building a new fireproof elementary school building and equipping the same; altering and building an addition to the existing building and equipping the same as provided by law.

The maximum number of years during which such bonds are to run is 23 years. The estimated average additional tax rate amounts to twenty and one tenth cents ($0.201) for each one hundred dollars of valuation, which is Two and one hundredths (2.01) mills for each one dollar of valuation, outside of the limitation imposed by Article XII, Section 2 of the Constitution, as certified by the County Auditor.

The Polls for said Election will be open at 6:30 o'clock A.M. and remain open until 6:30 o'clock P.M. at the Moderate School, Eastern Standard Time of said day. By order of the Board of Elections of Columbiana County, Ohio.

THERE MAY BE SNOW on the ground and a cold nip in the air and the trees may wear glistening coats of ice but nevertheless spring is very near. As we said in this space last week you feel and almost taste Spring with the arrival each day of fresh merchandise here at the store.

ARRIVING in our stocks every day are suits, coats, dresses, skirts, blouses, sweaters with a this-minute freshness about them. The colors are the prettiest in years, softer and paler. Clean clear blues, sometimes with red and white, pinks that swerve into coral, yellow-greens, golden browns and the clay colors.

PRINTS ARE so splendid this year whether it's a splash of water color effect on a pure silk or wild flower print in a rough textured sheath. The costume look is an important one and a welcome one. Costumes take many forms from long coats to short fly-away jackets. Each part stands on its own and gives a complete look when worn together. One we especially like is a three piece grey flecked with black silk. It is a skirt with over blouse complete with peplum and elbow length sleeve—very effective as a two piece, even more so worn with its pretty jacket.

JACKETS float, ripple. Skirts are slim with a look of ease or are gently flared or wide with pleats—some are gored or paneled.

WAISTLINES are natural and sometimes rise high. Belts are terrific this year. We have mentioned before the popularity of ruffles and they are everywhere. Just another phase in the wonderful story of femininity for '62.

COATS have taken on a new look for Spring. Nearly all have easy skirts. The Princess flare is new. Fabrics are light and airy with new textures and surface interest. Collars often are absent altogether or are small if used. The sleeve is bracelet length or shorter.

OF COURSE, accessories most assuredly can make or break a costume. Gloves can be seen in most every color and the fabrics are delightful. Purses are varied in style and materials but as a rule are smaller than in recent years.

COSTUME JEWELRY in frosted fruit tones is beautiful and gold is very popular—it is to be seen in belts, purses, shoes, and of course is no longer used only with evening wear.

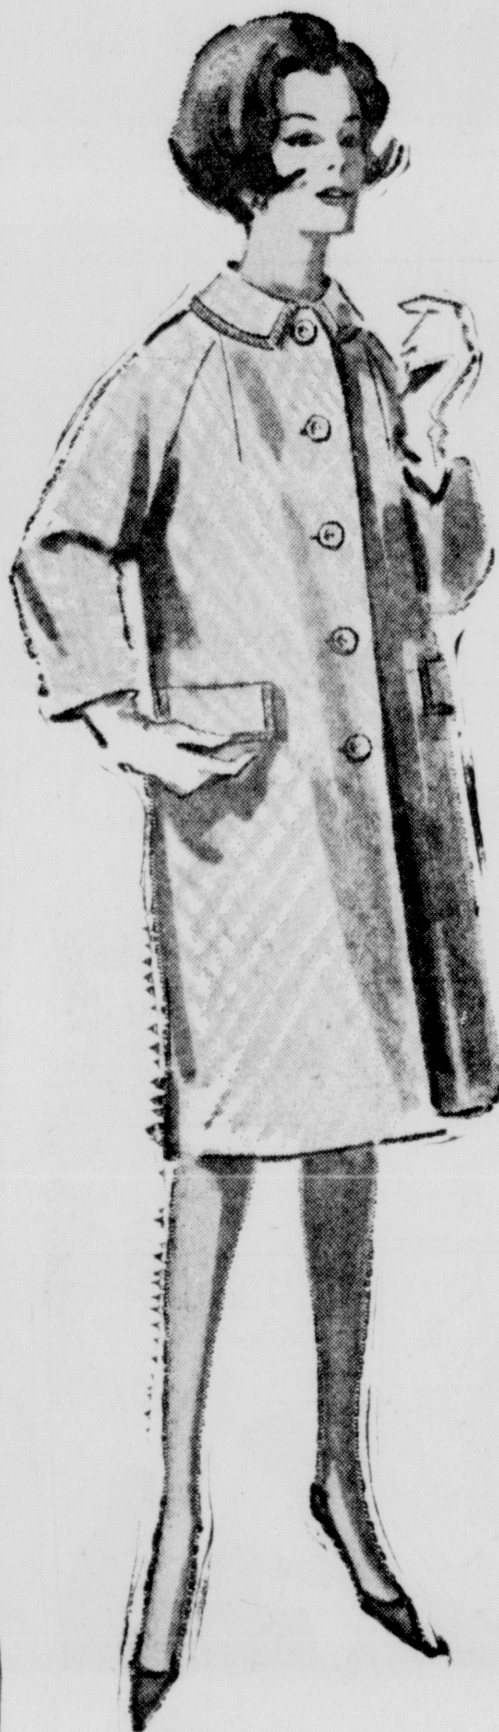

WE REALLY feel Spring is visiting our store—do come in—we'll introduce you.

Glenn: Figurehead For Gigantic Team Effort

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—In modestly accepting the accolade heaped on him for his round-the-world orbit flight, astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. repeatedly has said thousands of persons deserve equal credit — that he considers himself "a figurehead for this whole big tremendous effort."

Glenn refers to the engineers, the scientists, the technicians and the administrators who devised the program, the booster rocket, the space capsule, the global tracking network — and the 15,000 sailors on the far-flung recovery ships.

Without their teamwork, Glenn says, his flight would not have been possible.

He could cite as an example a drama which occurred just two weeks before the flight, when a fuel tank problem developed in the Atlas booster. Officials at first believed the rocket would have to be taken down or replaced, with perhaps a two-month delay in the launching.

But engineers of General Dynamics - Astronauts, which makes the Atlas, came up with a solution. They constructed a scaffolding inside the fuel tank on which workmen stood to remove the trouble-causing plastic foam covering on the tank bulkhead.

The job was completed in four days and a series of tests pronounced the rocket fit.

The General Dynamics engineers also played key roles in adapting the military Atlas — with its 300,000 intricate parts — to a vehicle capable of lifting the two-ton Mercury capsule.

Of several early unmanned flights, the Atlas - capsule combination proved incompatible and twice the rocket exploded in flight.

Study of data indicated the Atlas was breaking up in a section just below the capsule when the rocket passed through an area of maximum aerodynamic stress. The top eight feet of the 75-foot rocket were strengthened and two successful orbit flights, including that of Enos the chimpanzee, paved the way for Glenn's ride.

Similar engineering and technical marvels were required to build the extremely complex capsule and to develop the 18-station tracking network capable of receiving data from the orbiting vehicle and relaying it on a split-second basis to the Mercury control center at Cape Canaveral.

Years of design and testing in wind tunnels, drops from airplanes, in laboratories and on rocket flights went into development of the bell-shaped vehicle, 9 feet tall and 6 feet across the base. McDonnell Aircraft Co. is prime contractor.

The final product — Glenn's Friendship 7 — was jammed with seven miles of wiring, 165 instruments, an environmental control system capable of sustaining life in comfortable surroundings for 28 hours, a heat shield to dissipate the searing 3,000-degree re-entry heat, an escape mechanism to pull the craft free in case of rocket trouble, radio devices to report capsule and astronaut condition, a set of automatic parachutes and even a window to give the astronaut a clear view of the earth and heavens.

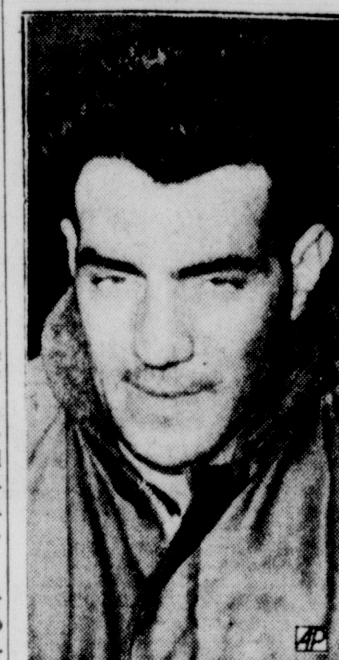

One of the most vital capsule systems is the automatic controls device which keep the craft in the proper attitude position in space. Gyroscopes controlled by hydrogen peroxide gas jets drive this system.

There are four jets for the roll axis, four for pitch and four for yaw. Two jets on each set of four produce a 24-pound thrust, the other two one pound each. This thrust is enough to control the capsule's maneuvers in the vacuum of space. The small jets are for minor correction, the larger jets for more violent attitude changes.

One of the small jets on the yaw axis became clogged during Glenn's flight and he had to take over partial manual control for much of the 4-hour, 56-minute mission. This points up another remarkable design factor in the capsule — every system has at least two backup systems in case of trouble.

Building the hardware was not enough. Mathematicians and scientists had to plot the speed and angle required by the Atlas to place the capsule in the desired orbit. This information had to be fed into the Burroughs-General Electric computer and guidance system in the rocket.

Much figuring was needed to calculate when to fire the capsule's reverse rockets to bring it out of orbit to land in a designated recovery area in the Atlantic Ocean. Many things were considered — weight, angle, shape and speed of the spacecraft, thrust of the booster and breaking rockets, shape of the earth, gravity and density of the atmosphere. Mathematical formulas and a giant computer did the job, and Glenn landed only six miles from a recovery destroyer.

No wonder Glenn wasted little time when he returned to Cape Canaveral seeking out the men on the launch pad and in the control center to personally thank them for their roles in putting him in space.

Receiving special attention in Glenn's numerous public appearances have been the leaders of Project Mercury, those who in 3½ years—despite extreme pressure—masterminded orbital flight from the drawing board to reality.

These are men like Robert R. Gilruth, Project Mercury director; Walter C. Williams, operations director; Chris Kraft, flight director; George Low and others of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration; and the other six astronauts.

Lora Appointed Head of County Defense Board

L. Earl Lora of Salem, office manager of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, has been named County Defense Board by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Other county board chairmen named by J. E. Bradfute, executive director of the state office of ASC, are Helen E. Newbold, Carroll County; Mary Frances Phillips, Jefferson County; Calvin D. Firestone, Stark County, and Thomas W. Richards, Mahoning County.

Upon declaration of a national emergency by the president, these boards will control major food supplies which may be needed by the military or by state or local through retail outlets or mass said "The development of adequate pre-emergency plans will require the cooperation of federal, state and local governments, as well as the food industry, farmers and other citizens," he added.

The Department of Agriculture recently issued informational bulletins concerning family food stockpiles and defense against radiological fallout on the farm. Copies of these bulletins may be obtained from the local county agent of the cooperative extension service.

Death rate from accidents in the United States is about 85 per 100,000 or seven times the toll taken by pneumonia and tuberculosis.

Cub Pack 2 Has Program
The blue and gold banquet for Cub Scouts of Pack 2, their families and friends, was held Monday evening in Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church.

Centerpieces and favors on the tables seating the 131 cubs and their guests used the theme, "Presidents of the United States" in appointments and decorations.

The flag ceremony opening the meeting was presented by Den 6 and Rev. William S. Longworth gave the invocation.

Calvin Filler, council commissioner, showed slides of the western part of the United States taken by him while on a trip through that part of the country. He was introduced by Carl Sheen.

Bear rank, Scott Riley, one gold arrow and two silver arrows; David Shasteen, bear badge and golden arrow; Grant Vance, bear badge, gold and silver arrows; Tom Raley, bear badge, golden arrow; Gary Lee Cook, bear book; Ronald Guntz, bear badge, gold and silver arrows; Gary Bauman, bear badge.

Lion rank, Glenn Clayton, lion badge, gold arrow; Jim Weber, lion badge; Scott Riley, lion book; Randy Babb, silver arrow; David Gabriel, lion badge; Dale Beaumont, lion badge; Ronnie Gantz, lion book.

Webelos, Glenn Clayton and Randy Babb received badges and Gary Lee Cook a dinner stripe. Cub John Primm received a one-year pin and Tom Raley a two-year pin. Adults receiving pins are as follows: Glenn L. Clayton, Roy Riley and Bill Sechler, one year pins; Robert Sanders and Carol Sheen, two year pins.

Appreciation certificates were presented to Mrs. Lee Gopp, Mrs. Charles Alexander, Mrs. Albert Beaumont and Mrs. Bonaventure Kupka.

Mrs. Daniel Babb and Mrs. Joseph Swetey were co-chairmen for the banquet.

A basic training course will be presented March 4 at Lincoln School in Lisbon, as announced by Robert Sanders.

Trial runs for the pinewood derby will be held from 1 to 4 p.m. March 24 at CIO Hall. Each cub must be accompanied by a parent. The derby will be an event of the March 26 pack meeting.

Astronaut Forsee Sky Auto In Future

WASHINGTON (AP)—Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. says the day will come when man will cruise in the skies much as he now maneuvers his automobile on the highways.

To travel in space like that, Glenn said in congressional testimony Wednesday, spacecraft many times more powerful than the Friendship 7 in which he orbited the globe three times will have to be developed.

When they are, Glenn said, a spaceman will be able to steer wherever his curiosity dictates, or go from one orbit to another as if in a sky auto.

Then, the Marine lieutenant colonel said, "Man will really take his rightful place in space."

Anchorage is Alaska's largest city, with a population of 31,000 or 60,000 including the outskirts. In Scotland, the name "clam" is applied to what Americans know as "scallops," according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.
